C. W. Barron Attacks Brandeis on the Stand

7 OVERCOME, 2 SAVED IN ROXBURY FIRE

SAYS COURT RECORDS BACK UP CHARGES

Other Witnesses Before Senate Committee Strongly Defend the Hub Nominee to Supreme Court

Washington, Feb. 10.—Clarence W. Barron, owner and editor of the Boston News Bureau, today attacked the record of Louis D. Brandeis before the Senate committee investigating the latter's fitness to be a judge of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Barron declared that he had in his safe copies of Massachusetts court records to back up everything he said written against Mr. Brandeis.

The committee asked Mr. Barron to give the facts upon which he based charges made in an editorial on January 29, entitled "An Unfit Appointment." "Ten years ago," said Mr. Barron, "Mr. Brandeis told me to be very careful of what I said about him. I have been. I had Mr. Brandeis investigated and the court records of Massachusetts searched. I have had in my safe copies of these records to back up anything I have written."

"Were you and Mr. Brandeis enemies?" asked Senator Chilton. "No. I haven't spoken to him for thirty years," answered Mr. Barron.

He explained that he meant that he had had no dealings with Mr. Brandeis out of which enmity might arise. He said Mr. Brandeis' warning grew out of the publication by Mr. Barron's papers of criticisms of Mr. Brandeis in connection with the Boston & Maine Railroad.

"On what did you base the charges in this editorial?" asked Senator Chilton.

Mr. Barron offered as evidence a letter he had written to an unnamed member in New York outlining the results of his investigations of Mr. Brandeis. Senator Walsh objected strenuously to the letter going into

Pearls Valued at $1,000,000 Arrive at New York Customs

New York, Feb. 10.

The richest string of pearls in the world, with the possible exception of a few held by native princes of India, has entered at the Custom house.

There are said to be fifty gems in the necklace and it is worth $1,000,000. The jewel was imported by Dreicer & Company, No. 560 Fifth avenue, and came from Max Meyer, a noted gem expert and dealer of London and Paris.

While the strictest secrecy attended the bringing of this magnificent piece of jewelry to the United States and its receipt at the appraisers' stores for examination and appraisal, it became known tonight that custom officials of long experience had never before inspected a set of pearls approaching this importation in size, color or beauty.

Gem experts conversant with the world's pearl stocks are of opinion that no royal house of Europe has as fine pearls as those passed by the customs men here today, and it was doubted by some if even in India, where jewels of priceless value are owned by princely families, there were any to surpass the collection now added to America's possessions.

2,000 IN GARMENT STRIKE

More than 2,000 women dress and waist workers, employed in fifty-five different Boston shops, went on strike today at 11 o'clock. There was no disorder.

The strikers, mostly girls, marched in pairs from their various shops on Beach, Eliot and Washington streets, to their headquarters at No. 724 Washington street.

Here they were addressed by international and local organizers. An extra detail of police was stationed about the streets near the hall, but was not needed.

Huge red fliers announcing a general strike were distributed among the strikers as they filed into the hall. Upon this flier in large letters was printed the following appeal:

"The time has come when you must realize that you are free men and women and that you will not tolerate any longer present existing conditions. You must convince your employer. When you are not working nothing can be done."

Rose Schneiderman of New York was the chief speaker at today's meeting. When she made her appearance in the hall she was cheered by the strikers.

In New York more than 400 shops are affected. More than 25,000 persons in allied trades are already on strike. They are made up as follows: Ten thousand wrapper and kimona makers; 8,000 children's dressmakers; 5,000 embroidery workers, and 2,000 buttonhole makers.

New Love Letters of Dr. Mohr Found

CLEWS TO TRAGEDY IN NOTES

Examination of the Slain Physician's Accounts Expected to Assist the Two Accused Men

Providence, Feb. 10.—The secrecy with which the late Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, the murdered physician, guarded the names of his patients, particularly women ones, has become more apparent with the examination of the Mohr books to complete the valuation of his estate.

New evidence is being sought for the prospective second trial of Cecil Victor Brown and Henry Spellman, the colored defendants who were convicted of murdering Dr. Mohr.

Love letters written by Dr. Mohr constitute part of this new evidence. Another part is said to relate to the secret office accounts. Revelations printed exclusively in the Boston Sunday AMERICAN of last Sunday of Dr. Mohr's six-year persecution of the Rev. Samuel MacDougall, formerly of Providence, now of New Scotia, are expected to figure in the new proceedings.

SEEK WITNESSES.

The Brown-Spellman defence is also seeking new witnesses, particularly a chauffeur and a maid who are said to have been the first on the murder scene after Dr. Mohr and Miss Emily G. Barger were shot. The maid and chauffeur were employed, it is said, in the household of a family named McCoy. They were not produced at the trial by either State or defence and are said to have left the place where they were employed shortly after the Mohr tragedy.

Mrs. Mohr went over her late husband's private accounts with her attorneys, John J. Fitzgerald, in the Grosvenor building, prior to her departure with her two children to the Taunton home of her sister, Mrs. Eugene Sullivan. She has retreated there for a much-needed rest.

The examination included the "red book," in which Dr. Mohr entered his professional receipts for 1914, and the German Report That Zeppelin Bombs Sank 3 British Warships

Berlin, Feb. 10.—The Cologne Gazette states that the British cruiser Caroline and the torpedo boat destroyers Eden and Nish were sunk by bombs during the last Zeppelin raid over England.

(The British Admiralty issued an official statement early this week denying that any ships of any kind whatsoever were sunk during the Zeppelin attack, although up to that time the Germans claimed only to have sunk the Caroline. The Eden and Nish are not listed in the British naval record.)

LATEST WAR BULLETINS.

Paris, Feb. 10.—A strong night attack by the Germans along the road between Neuville, St. Vaast and Lafolie was repulsed by the French, it was announced by the War Office today. The great battle around Arras continues with attack and counter attack, mingling with mighty artillery duels. Fighting is continuous night and day. The Germans were thrown out of the trenches west of Lafolie by an attack with grenades.

Athens, Feb. 10.—Bulgarian Comitadjis (irregulars) who crossed the Greek frontier Tuesday were driven back by Greek troops after a sharp clash, according to the Athens newspapers. The Greeks took many prisoners, including the leader of the Comitadjis.

Vienna, Feb. 10.—A dispatch from Cettinge says it is reported that Austro-Hungarian troops have reached Durazzo and are occupying the Albanian city without resistance.

Berne, Feb. 10.—Military guards were today placed around all Swiss ammunition factories as the result of the discovery of a plot to blow them up.

Petrograd, Feb. 10.—In the last three weeks six German aeroplanes and a Zeppelin have been destroyed by Russian air craft.

CUNNINGHAM IS CAMBRIDGE VICTOR

Mayor Wendell P. Rockwood of Cambridge was today ordered by the full bench of the Supreme Court to refrain from removing from office Commissioner of Public Safety Henry J. Cunningham of East city.

Mayor Rockwood claimed he had the power to remove Cunningham under the old city charter of 1915 and expressed his intention of so doing.

Cunningham took the matter to the Supreme Court with the contention that his case came under the new charter of 1915, which makes it impossible for the Mayor to remove him without the consent of the Board of Aldermen.

GERMANY TELLS OF TAKING TRENCHES

By International News Service.

Berlin, Feb. 10.—The War Office announced today that Austro-Hungarian troops had defeated weak attacks made by the Russians in the eastern war theatre on the fronts held by General von Linsingen and General von Bothmer. In the Balkans there have been no new developments.

"Capture of certain trenches by the Allies on the western front is admitted, the report saying:

"Northwest of Vimy we captured a large trench section from the French and, also a crater near Neuville, which had been previously lost to the enemy. We took 52 prisoners and 22 machine guns.

"South of the Somme several French attacks were repulsed. North of Becquincourt the enemy succeeded in gaining a foothold in a small section of the foremost line of German trenches.

BOY PUPIL ACCUSES MASTER

Declare Illness Followed Alleged Severe Punishment of 12-Year-Old Lad in a Dedham School

Charges that James Hardiman, Jr., a twelve-year-old pupil of the Ames Grammar School of Dedham, was so severely punished that he became ill were made at a special meeting of the Dedham School Committee today.

Hardiman, who is in the seventh grade of the school and whose home is on High street, Dedham, accuses Frank C. Heald, the principal, of forcing him to lie across a desk for nearly an hour, with his head and feet bent over the sides of the desk toward the floor.

The lad was sick abed at his home today, and a physician was called in to attend him. It was stated that the boy had previously suffered from heart trouble and that his alleged experiences in the school had aggravated his condition.

HEAR CHARGES.

After hearing the charges against Principal Heald, the school committee adjourned until Saturday night, explaining that Heald would appear at that time to tell his story, and that a decision would be announced later.

Heald today refused to affirm or deny the accusation.

"I don't care to say anything now," he declared. "I have not had special meeting to be held Saturday night to hear me, and I have not been informed to attend any such meeting."

This is young Hardiman's story:

"Our teacher was away because of illness yesterday and the principal filled in. During school hours some body whispered in the classroom, and four of us boys were kept in after 3:30, the closing hour.

"Mr. Heald left the room, and later came back. He claimed he heard whispering again. He picked me out and ordered me to lay across a desk. I had to do it. My head hung down and my legs hung down, too. I couldn't keep them up.

"I was kept there from 3:50 until 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

"Principal Heald went out. While he was out of the room, the janitor, Mr. Sullivan, came in to sweep the room. Then he saw me and asked me what was the matter.

BEGGED FOR WATER.

"I told him I was being punished and that I had been ordered to stay the way I was lying.

"I begged him for a drink of water. He brought me water, and I believe I would have died if I hadn't got it. I felt terribly sick.

"Mr. Sullivan, the janitor, bathed my forehead, then went out of the room and returned with Mr. Heald. Heald took hold of my right hand and felt my pulse. He asked if I was sick. I said, 'Yes.' He took me into his office, wiped my forehead with a towel and told me to go home."

Young Hardiman is employed as a newsboy by the Dedham News Agency, and after school he went to the agency to get his papers for his route. His employer noticed that something was wrong. It was stated that the lad's eyes bulged, that he complained of dizziness and of being "sick at his stomach." His condition was such that the lad's employer sent another boy with him to assist him in delivering his papers.

Daniels Estimates $122,150 Is Needed for 'Old Ironsides'

Washington, Feb. 10.

ESTIMATES calling for $122,150 for the proposed repair to the old frigate Constitution, "if it is desired for the sake of sentiment to keep the vessel afloat and in a good state of repair as long as possible," were made by Secretary Daniels, in a letter to the Secretary of the Senate in reply to requests for information on the subject.

The vessel should be docked, says Mr. Daniels, and the underwater planking, framing and sheathing placed in good condition, and the rotten ceiling and planking inside should all be removed and renewed.

CANADA IS PROBING SPY DEN

The Canadian government, it was learnedtoday, has joined in the investigation of the charge that German sympathizers maintained an office in a 30th street building where the dynamiting of American munition plants and the Parliament buildings at Ottawa was planned. Men making these charges declare that by use of a dictagraph planted in the office evidence has been secured that great quantities of dynamite have been purchased in Boston from a large manufacturer and turned over to the plotters.

It was learned today that private detectives engaged by the government are working on the case, and one of their men is now making investigations in Canada.

It is believed that the Department of Justice is handling the matter from Washington, although Frederick F. Schmid, head of the New England Bureau, said today that it would not be given to the Federal Grand Jury.

Assistant United States District Attorney Shea said that "officially" he knew nothing about the "spy den," but that newspapermen should know what "officially" means.

R. M. Sackett, manager of the local office of a detective agency, admitted today that he had just returned from Montreal, where he had gone on official business.

Mr. Sackett stated that former Chief Postoffice Inspector Lawrence J. Leatherman, now connected with the agency, is at present in Canada and will return probably on Saturday.

"Letherman is on a case up there," he said. "Really I would like to tell you what I know about the case, but you know I can't. Our clients are the ones who pay us and their wishes must be recognized first.

"The agency does work for the British government," he admitted. "You know how cold the British authorities are to publicity, and so if we should be representing them in this particular case I would have to obtain permission to talk to the press."

FIREMEN BARELY ESCAPE

Suffocating Smoke Traps Fire Fighters in Roxbury Blaze; Two Men Are Taken to Hospital

Seven firemen had narrow escapes from death by suffocation today at a fire in a three-story wooden dwelling at No. 21 Fernboro street, Roxbury.

Two firemen, Frank J. Linney and James E. Nolan, both of Engine 24, were removed to the City Hospital after being rescued by comrades.

The other firemen overcome were: Captain Trehan of Engine 24, Lieutenant Gavin of Chemical 5, George Cavanagh of Ladder 7, Thomas Lynch of Chemical 5, Thomas Flanagan, chauffeur for Deputy Chief Sennott.

Ladderman Cavanagh was rescued by Captain McCorkle of Engine 12 and Hoseman Daniel White of Engine 24. He refused to go to the hospital.

All the firemen overcome were treated by Doctors Joseph L. Sullivan and A. Colmes, summoned by Deputy Chief Sennott.

The fire, according to Chief Sennott, started in a closet on the second floor. It spread through the partitions on all three floors, causing a damage estimated by the police at $2,500.

GERMANS BUILD 3 MONSTER U-BOATS

By International News Service.

The Hague, Feb. 10.—Three submarines, superior in speed and equipment to any underwater craft built by any nation, have just been finished by German workmen at Kiel, according to reports that reached Dutch naval officials today. Each is said to carry a crew of sixty men and seven torpedo tubes and to be able to cover 7,000 miles without replenishing fuel.

PUBLICITY CAUSES LUSITANIA DELAY

By International News Service.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The real reason for the latest delay in the final settlement of the Lusitania controversy lies in the unwise public statements of high officials of the German government in Berlin.

Because of the consequences of the publication in this country of interviews granted in Berlin recently, this official pleads especial right to shield himself behind the time-honored custom of anonymity which protects all official Washington, so far as newspaper utterances are concerned. His statement follows:

CRITICISES ZIMMERMAN.

The Lusitania question would have been settled once and for all last Friday, had it not been for the newspaper interview given to Berlin last October by Dr. Zimmerman, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs. There is only one kind of diplomacy, and that is silent diplomacy. The United States will accept the German answer as finally corrected, if that I have no doubt. But to Dr. Zimmerman's untimely statement may be attributed the present delay.

The motive that inspired Dr. Zimmerman was undoubtedly the same motive that inspired the Chancellor recently. Desiring to give his views for publication in the United States, in both cases it was purely domestic and foreign politics—that furnished the incentive for this unfortunate abuse of publicity.

When Count von Bernstorff visited Secretary of State Lansing last Friday, talking with him the German memorandum on the Lusitania case, there is no question in that world that Mr. Lansing would have accepted that memorandum as it stood, but it had been for Dr. Zimmerman's hysterical protest published in the American newspapers of that morning.

Now Dr. Zimmerman, as also the German Chancellor, knows that his screaming denunciation of the proposition to yield to new demands on the part of the United States has no basis in fact. The United States never increased her demands of Mr. Lansing his task. The United States, however, has increased her demands, Mr. Lansing to the contrary notwithstanding. But that is another matter.

CONCESSIONS TO U. S.

The fact is that official Berlin believed it saw the necessity of saving the face of shooting Lusitania, and at first the difficulties did not exist, in order later to save the face of and help the people that it had stood firm against unjust demands and yielded only to reasonable requests.

The only trouble with that fascinating idea is that it took no consideration of Germany and German public opinion. And just as silent diplomacy is the only successful diplomacy, so is international as against a provincial diplomacy. Getting overheated, to its keen desire to appease Germany, the results of which were known to the American public opinion, Berlin overlooked this, but Washington did not.

But let the facts be understood. The German Ambassador went to the State Department last Friday with the German memorandum and the notification that if the Lusitania case was not settled satisfactorily by assuming liability for every unlawful act of the German government in that memorandum Germany would declare the unrestricted submarine war zone at an end. Mr. Lansing's reply was that the torpedoing of the Lusitania was in violation of international law.

Never before in all the nine months of long-drawn-out negotiations and Count von Bernstorff been better able to induce Mr. Lansing to see that his government has reached the limit of its ability to make concessions.

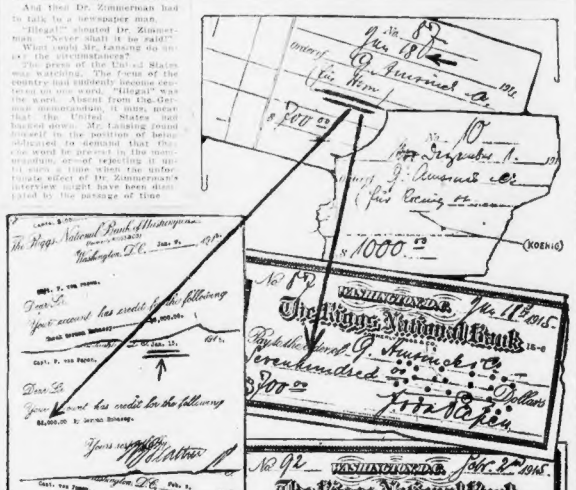
And then Dr. Zimmerman had to talk to a newspaper man.

"Illegal!" shouted Dr. Zimmerman. "Never shall it be paid!"

What ought Mr. Lansing do under the circumstances?

The press of the United States was watching. The focus of the country had suddenly become centered on one word, "illegal" was the word. Absent from the German memorandum, it must mean that the United States had backed down. Mr. Lansing found himself in the position of being obligated to demand that the one word be present in the memorandum, or—of rejecting it until such a time when the unfortunate effect of Dr. Zimmerman's interview might have been dissipated by the passage of time.

Von Papen Checks Show Cash for Werner Horn



Reproduction of some of the checks and stubs taken from Captain von Papen by the British. They show the German Embassy at Washington deposited $2,000 to the account of the discredited attache three days before Horn, who is now held at Boston, was given a check for $700. Count von Bernstorff paid to the same account $2,000 three days after Von Papen sent a check to Seattle.

MOBILIZE FACTORIES OF THE U. S.

By International News Service.

New York, Feb. 10.—The entire manufacturing resources of the country have been mobilized so that they can be instantly taken over by the government in case of war.

American torpedoes have been improved until now they are superior to the torpedoes of any other power on earth.

Plans have been perfected for a physical and chemical laboratory in which, among other things, submarine engines can be built in six days.

Confidential designs of new foreign fighting craft have been secured, containing features not yet used by the United States. Aeroplane engines have been vastly improved.

These concrete achievements were placed by the various committees before the naval advisory board at its meeting in the Brooklyn navy yard. They represent the activities of members of the board since its last session.

The meeting was an executive one. Thomas A. Edison presided. The latter presented to the board plans for the new laboratory. The plans are complete in every detail, and if passed by the board will eventually mean the construction of twenty-three buildings.

TO CUT COSTS IN HALF.

"The scope of this laboratory is to cut in one-half the present cost of constructing naval vessels.

Immediately after the session Mr. Edison, in the course of an interview, said:

"That laboratory is big enough to build anything up to a submarine. If they adopt my methods of working there is hardly anything they cannot build within sixty days.

"For instance, take the engine for a submarine. Under the old way it took five months to build it. Here we will put 300 men on it. Each man will have a part in the work which can be done in from seventy to eighty hours. We will put the whole thing together and have it running in six days.

"The laboratory is planned for quick results. As an illustration, I was told by one admiral that he had a specially designed gun carriage that he wished to be built. It was a year before he got it. From his description I believe that the laboratory could have built it in seventy-two hours.

"There will be universal tools in it, so that an individual can do an individual act expeditiously.

"The laboratory will cost about $1,500,000 for the preliminary work. The ultimate cost will be four or five millions.

"At present we have not got a thoroughly satisfactory submarine engine. In the laboratory we will build a submarine engine, put it under submarine conditions and speed it up to twice the required speed.

GREAT TESTING PLANT.

"We will let it run till something breaks. Then we will fix it, and repeat the operation one more times. By that time we will be able to put into commission a submarine engine twice as good as required. It will, therefore, only have to use half of its efficiency to give the required results.

"You will never hear anything more about bad submarine engines. As a rule I always run things to destruction.

"The laboratory will take over the responsibility of designing things so that the manufacturer will be able to make contracts for construction alone, and be relieved of the experimental work. This will reduce the cost of construction, and speed it up.

"For instance, a manufacturer will be able to make any number from our plans, knowing that the laboratory will do all the experimenting. You can get submarines for half the cost that way.

"If we want cheap preparedness that's the way to get it. Since this board has started, a very large number of things have been done. A number of them have been very valuable."

Mr. Edison said that Howard Coffin had got all the papers from every manufacturer in the United States, mobilizing everything to make ammunition in case of war. "We know every tool in the United States that can be used to make ammunition," he said.

"The work of the standardization committee will be to get in line on every manufacturer in the country, from boots to canned peas. All items necessary for defence can be begun immediately.

"So far as the navy is concerned I am informed by the Coffin committee that it will go the limit. He guarantees that the labor will be all right."

It was pointed out by members of the board that, with the laboratory in existence, the manufacturer would be saved the troubles of designing. It would also eliminate waste of time and delays in construction, when new features do not prove successful.

GREAT ADVANCES MADE.

Peter Cooper Hewitt said: "The board feels that a great advance has been made in submarine torpedoes. There is no question of the superiority of our torpedoes.

"Several new designs of foreign fighting craft were exhibited to us in confidence, showing many new features as yet not used by the United States.

"Besides the advances made in torpedo construction, there has been quite an advance in aeroplane engine construction for machines not hitherto built in this country.

"There have been terrific strides in wireless communication in this country within a short time.

"The personal activity of American manufacturers has been very great on the other side in obtaining confidential information from abroad."

The board will hold its next session Wednesday, March 8.

GERMANS PAID WERNER HORN, NEW EVIDENCE INDICATES

Evidence that Werner Horn was paid $700 before he had blown up the Vanceboro bridge by Captain von Papen, the recalled German Embassy attache, was made public today, consisting of checks drawn by Von Papen on the Riggs National Bank, Washington. Three days before Von Papen drew the checks $2,000 had been deposited to his account by the German Embassy.

Horn is at the East Cambridge Jail awaiting trial. His counsel contends that he is a lieutenant in the German Army, that he obeyed orders when he blew up the bridge, and that it was an act of war performed by a military officer.

In view of this defence the checks are of great importance as showing that Horn was paid by Von Papen with German Embassy money.

SEIZED BY ENGLAND.

Photographs of checks signed by Captain Franz von Papen are now in the hands of Frank L. Polk, counsellor to the State Department, having been handed to the American Ambassador in London by the British authorities.

Captain von Papen was searched at Falmouth, after he had been given a safe conduct from the United States. The British officials took from him many papers and his checkbook, the stubs of which told a remarkable story of German payments to men who serve Teuton ends in this country.

Horn attempted to blow up the Canadian Pacific bridge on February 3, 1915.

He asserted that he had received orders to do this, and that it was an act of war. He was arrested and extradited to Boston, where he was indicted for carrying dynamite as a common carrier. There were three indictments, all relating to the same alleged offence, with six counts to all. Horn's counsel, former Congressman Joseph F. O'Connell, is now attempting to secure his freedom under a habeas corpus writ.

Stubs in Von Papen's checkbook showed a check for $700 drawn to Horn's credit January 15, 1915. Horn attempted to blow up the bridge fifteen days later. Three days before Von Papen gave Horn his check the German embassy deposited to the Riggs National Bank of Washington $2,000 to Von Papen's credit.

The Department of Justice has subpoenaed officers of the Riggs Bank to produce for the use of the government all records of financial transactions conducted through the bank by Captain von Papen.

DISBURSED $16,111.

Count von Bernstorff, when informed on January 14 that Captain von Papen had paid money to Horn and other plotters made the comment: "I don't believe it."

The check book also showed that Von Papen paid $1,500 to the German consulate in Seattle, where the activity of German sympathizers in the United States has been extremely active.

Money was given to Captain von Papen by his military attache, Franz Time and again the Embassy had to be called upon to replenish the depleted bank account. In about three months Von Papen dispersed $18,-111.62.

The checks and stubs taken from Captain Von Papen show something like fifty items. In some of the deposits to his credit made to Count Von Bernstorff of the German Embassy, the excuse for the money was "war intelligence office." In October, 1914, one of the payments on that account was for $2,500.

Von Papen paid something like $2,000 to Paul Koenig, who, with others, has been indicted on the charge of attempting to blow up the Welland Canal.

The Horn check was made out to Amsinck & Co. of New York, and dated January 18. On the stub of the check is the annotation "for Horn." The attempt to blow up the bridge was not made until February 2, although the German Embassy claimed that if any money were paid to Horn it was done after his arrest and for his defence.

MANY FLEE WEST END BLAZE

Nine persons barely escaped with their lives and twenty-two others fled from the next building when a fire which necessitated two alarms was discovered in the three-story dwelling house at No. 51 and 51½ Revere street early today.

Engineer William P. Kehoe of Engine 5 was badly injured when the wheels of the engine passed over both of his legs as he was trying to block the piece of apparatus at a hydrant near the scene of the fire.

The fire swept through the whole house, taking away all the stairways and the firemen were forced to fight the blaze from ladders. At times the flames burst from windows and the lives of many firemen were imperilled.

RAN THROUGH FLAMES.

Mollie Becker, who lives on the third floor, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Becker, was awakened by the dense smoke. She ran to her parents' room and called them and then she awoke her sister, Rose, eighteen, and her brother, Saul.

The members of the Becker family ran to the front stairway and there found that their exit was cut off by flames. At the back stairway they met the same fate. They were forced to run through flames to a fire escape. Saul Becker suffered severe burns about his head and face. The others fled to the street uninjured.

The family of Louis Wiarshawsky, the owner of the building, who resides on the first floor, was awakened by the cries of help from the Becker family. They managed to make their escape through the front door.

NEIGHBORS WARNED.

Policemen awakened the family who reside at No. 49 Revere street, and ordered them to vacate the building when the flames began to burst through the windows on the second floor of the building at No. 51 Revere street, which was unoccupied.

M. Schneider, his wife and five children were the first to leave the building at No. 49 Revere street. They were quickly followed by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Zarrow and their four children, Mr. and Mrs. Max Schwartz and their five children, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Firemen and their son.

As soon as District Chief Hines arrived at the scene he sent out a second alarm as the flames at that time were breaking through the roof and nearly all of the windows in the building.

When the second alarm apparatus arrived the towers were set in places and ladders were run up all over the building. For this reason they soon combated the blaze.

The blaze started in a boys' club in the basement at No. 51½ Revere street and worked its way through the whole building.

Chief McDonough estimates the loss at $5,000.

REV. DR. COOPER DIES IN ROXBURY

Seven of the girls who will appear in the pageant, "Yesterday and Today," at the Boston Opera House tomorrow evening. Left to right, Madeline Faunce, Edith Flanders, Lydia De Lahoyde, Anna Crosby, Anna Cahill, Helen Williams and Dorothy O'Donoghue.

The pageant, "Yesterday and Today," for which the Ladies' Catholic Club of Boston has been planning for three months, will take place tomorrow evening in the Boston Opera House.

There will be at least 500 in the cast, including a chorus of over 150. Each episode will include five of different stage. Some of these episodes will be the "Dawn of Tomorrow," "Adam and Eve," "The Court of Isabella and Ferdinand," "Joan of Arc," "The Colonial Period," "61" and "64," "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," and "The Present Time."

The pageant has been directed by Ray Averill, assisted by Miss Mary Barr, president of the association, who has charge of the chorus; Mrs. Olara Churel, the march; Mrs. Augustus Bulger, the butterfly dance; Mrs. Daniel McKenie, contralto soloist; Mrs. J. Shannahan, the colonial minuet; Mrs. Crosby, the dance of the Meriams.

A full page of pictures of those taking part in the pageant will appear in next Sunday's AMERICAN.

MODISTE'S BILL IS PAID BY COCHRANE

It was learned today that J. Eugene Cochrane of Dedham, prominent manufacturer and chairman of the Democratic State committee, who was yesterday ordered by Chief Justice Aiken of the Superior court, to pay a bill of nearly $2,000 to dressmakers who had sued him for his failure to pay for several dainty frocks his daughter Eugenie had purchased from them, has also made a settlement in a similar suit filed against him by Mme. Chiquita, a modiste, at the Copley-Plaza. Her bill was for $159.25 and was for the "coming out" gowns of his daughter Eugenie.

RUSSIAN AVIATORS REPORT VICTORIES

By International News Service.

Petrograd, Feb. 10.—Russian aviators are now more than holding their own in conflicts with German aircraft. It was announced today that during the last three weeks battles in the air have resulted in the destruction of 14 German aeroplanes and a Zeppelin without the loss of a single Russian machine. In the same time Russian aerial squadrons have inflicted heavy damages on the military establishments and railroads behind the German front. Two machines a day are now being constructed.

HOMESICK HORSE WANTS HARBOR TRIP

Homesickness for Nantucket led a horse owned by Herson & Co., No. 766 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, from Northern avenue to Rowes wharf today, where the animal attempted to get aboard a steamer. Last Summer the horse was driven on an ice wagon at Nantucket. Today, when left on Northern avenue, near the bridge, the horse started for Rowes wharf, and was found trying to force his way through the gate leading to the steamers. The horse was turned over to its owners.

FIVE-DAY LAW HALTS YVETTE'S WEDDING

Providence, Feb. 10.—That horrid cupid-Cupid, five-day law has halted the marital aspirations of fetching Yvette Violet de Von, the young actress who gained the spotlight of publicity through her $50,000 "Garden of Allah" breach of promise suit against a New York banker last Fall.

But, fortunately for D. Cupid, the halt due to the law's delay is only temporary, for love as usual has found the way, and Miss de Von expects to return to this city Monday for the ringing of the wedding bells.

The bride-to-be and Martin Niles Wilcoxson, forty-five and a divorce, made the five-hour trip from New York to this city to be married. They went to City Hall here to get the marriage license.

"Can't give you anything better than the marriage intentions," said the clerk. "You know we have a five-day law here, which means you must wait that time before the knot can be tied."

The unromantic clerk, having the more unromantic law at his back, wouldn't bend, for he couldn't, you know, though the couple thought he was pretty hard-hearted.

But they did take out the intentions. When the clerk asked Wilcoxson his occupation, he said:

"I don't work; I own land."

The groom-to-be said his father, Martin Van Buren Wilcoxson, didn't work either. The son gave his address as New York and said he was divorced from his first wife October 21, 1911.

Miss de Von said she was twenty-six. The couple took the Knickerbocker Limited back to New York, saying they would return here next week.

The actress' breach of promise suit was against Andrew Cuneo, a banker, and in letters she alleged he had agreed to her the love of Boris for Domini in Robert Hichens' romance of the desert, "The Garden of Allah," was reflected.

"He was Boris and I was Domini," said Miss de Von at the time. "We adopted the pet names after we saw a performance of the Hichens play. For three years he was my fairy godfather."

One of the letters began "Domini—Amore," and another began "Domini—mia Carissima," and they were signed "Boris," and our friend means Ou X's after the signature.

In August Miss de Von was arrested on a perjury charge made by Cuneo.

FOURTH ARREST IN CHAPMAN ROBBERY

Frank McCann, twenty-one, of Pine street, when arrested early today by Sergeant Anderson of Station 4, is said to have admitted he was the fourth man wanted in connection with the hold-up of Mitchell Chapman, who was attacked and robbed on Eliot street yesterday. His three companions were held in $5,000 for a hearing next Tuesday.

CHARGED WITH POSTAL THEFT

Nine parcel post packages stolen from a downtown mail wagon were found on Jeremiah Whelan as he was walking about South Boston early today. He was arrested by Patrolman McCarthy and will be turned over to the Federal authorities.

Accused Woman Declares Love for Cassavant

Woonsocket, R. I., Feb. 10.—Mrs. Hattie Esther Oakley, under arrest on a charge of sending poisoned cream puffs through the mails and with causing the death of one man and the serious illness of another, still loves Henry Cassavant, one of her alleged victims, according to her lawyer, Henry J. Carpenter. Cassavant is serious; ill at the Woonsocket Hospital. The dead man was Armand Vadeboncoeur.

"Mrs. Oakley says she still loves Cassavant," declared Mr. Carpenter. "When she was told he had made an ante-mortem statement, her eyes filled with tears, her lips quivered and she repeatedly expressed the hope that he might get well.

"In my opinion the woman is innocent. It is rare that a woman kills a man who has caused her to become jealous; usually she goes after the woman in the case."

Robins Make an Early Call at Arlington

Arlington reports a harbinger of Spring fully as important as the groundhog's recent failure to observe his shadow.

A flock of at least fifty robins visited the Kensington Park district in that suburb yesterday morning for several minutes on Mrs. Elliot E. Smith's snow-covered lawn, and then paying a visit to Mrs. William S. Hall on Brantwood road.

Old residents say this is the earliest appearance of the redbreasts within living memory.

BOSTON GROOM, 19, HELD IN THEFT CASE

Clifford Waddell of Boston, a nineteen-year-old bridegroom, is under arrest in New York, charged with stealing $140 from his employer. He says love made him steal. Clifford arrived in New York a few months ago and secured work. He fell in love with Eva Edwards, member of the household of Mrs. John B. Stetson at No. 24 Gramercy park. Later he took his sweetheart to his home in Kingston, N. Y., where they were married.

URGES MILITARY WORK IN COLLEGES

Washington, Feb. 10.—Dr. Edmund J. He urged the detailing of more regular army officers to land grant colleges to supervise military instruction.

TO BURN CHURCH MORTGAGE TONIGHT

Rev. Dr. S. C. Gunn, pastor of the Scotch Presbyterian Church plans to burn the mortgage of $27,000 in the presence of all the members of that church, this evening. The church is at No. 76 Warrenton street and was bought in 1887. It is the only church in Boston at which the service is in Highland Gaelic.

FEAR ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE BY COMERY

CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 10.—Fearing an attempt by Oscar J. Comery, who is to be put to death by hanging on February 18, to commit suicide, Warden Rowe has ordered the three guards on the death watch to be especially vigilant.

Comery once tried to kill himself before being brought to the prison here. He is to die for killing his wife.

It is probable that the gallows will be erected in the jail yard and not in the corridors of the prison, as was at first planned.

This decision has been reached by Sheriff Stearns and Warden Rowe on the theory that it is unfair to force the prisoners to witness or hear the executions.

The "Wetherfield plan," by which a heavy weight, dropping from a height, snatches the condemned man into the air at the end of a rope, will be used, as it was exclusively in last Sunday's AMERICAN.

Comery today had a visit from his attorneys, L. Ashton Thorp and Oscar F. Mereau. They told him they had exhausted every resource to save him, without success. He bade them goodby and does not expect to see them again.

He remains calm, and the prison officials say that he eats heartily and sleeps as well as any man in prison.

The prisoners are showing signs of unrest. Warden Rowe said today. There is a feeling among them that Comery does not deserve his fate.

Comery is now in the women's wing of the prison, under a "death watch" of three guards. He gets exercise in the corridor. There are no other prisoners in that section of the prison.

He rises at 6, breakfasts at 6:30, has dinner at 12 and supper at 5. He has practically anything he wants to eat.

Representative Levin Chase of Concord said today that he and a number of his friends will go away from the city on the day of the execution as a protest against the continuance of capital punishment.

Representative Chase has led the fight to abolish hanging.

APPEAL TO BOSTON FOR FLOOD RELIEF

An appeal for aid for Western flood sufferers was received by the Boston Chamber of Commerce today in the form of a telegram from Mayor Parker C. Ewen of Clarendon, Ark. It reads:

"We have 2,000 persons without homes. Every house in town from four to ten feet deep in water. Have no provisions. People as far as we can get relief. Our funds have become exhausted and we must have outside aid. Help us!"

Any action by the Chamber will be deferred until the return of President Liggett from Washington.

RIBOT REPORTS ON STOCK SALE PLANS

By International News Service.

Paris, Feb. 10.—M. Ribot, French Minister of Finance, returned from London today and presented at a cabinet meeting a report on arrangements he had made with the London Stock Exchange for the sale of French owned securities in the British capital. The Bank of England has promised to help the Bank of France to obtain commercial credits in Great Britain and measures have been taken with a view to payment for purchases made in England and the United States.

HAGAN HITS RUE OF CURLEY

While Mayor Curley was speeding south today the city administration was being hammered by Acting-Mayor Henry E. Hagan, the newly-elected president of the City Council.

"Present wasteful methods," "political administration" and "favored contractors" were expressions used by the acting-Mayor. He said in part:

"The citizens of Boston have had a political administration for six years and it is destined to continue for at least two more. This will total eight years during which politics have controlled at City Hall. With all this waste, if that's what the citizens want I believe they should have it.

"If they want the wasteful conditions to continue and grow worse the sure and safe method is to continue to elect some person as Mayor who will continue to give the 'citizens a political administration and all the wasteful methods that have existed and now exist.

"If the citizens of Boston ever want a proper business administration they will have to elect as Mayor some man who is utterly indifferent to politics and its attending evils.

DISCUSSES STREETS.

"I am satisfied that the present bad condition of the streets is brought about very largely because of the unbusinesslike methods of giving out contracts for street surfacing. In the atmosphere of the present administration the disposition seems to be to put work to favored contractors in a small area. The consequence is that it wastes for the city many thousands of dollars per annum to do the work that really is done but because of the poor quality of these comparatively small individual contracts.

"The direct result of this system is that some of the largest asphalt contractors in the country make no attempt whatsoever to do any business with the city, the claim being that it is not worth while for them even to go to the expense of installing a working plant to do a lot of piecework jobs."

"POLITICAL ATMOSPHERE."

"Some of the representatives of these firms insist that the splitting of these contracts into small amounts is done solely for the purpose of preventing the large concerns from entering competitive bids, and that the work actually let out can be given in lots of comparatively small yardage to favored local contractors.

"However, the citizens are responsible. They have elected a man who has brought into City Hall this kind of political atmosphere, and whose views are always the political ones. The change in these present wasteful methods can be had until the citizens of Boston elect a mayor who has had his training and experience along business lines."

BROCKTON COUPLE'S 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Brockton, Feb. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Everett Wilbur of this city celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home on Pearl street today. Pink Corsets Are Urged for Men; Help! Help!

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 10.—THE American man, to dress as a "gentleman," shouldn't think of having less than fourteen suits and ten overcoats, declared delegates to the convention here of the National Association of Merchant Tailors of America.

A resolution recommending pink silk corsets for men was substituted, and then tabled without action.

NOL PROS COBB LOAN COMPANY INDICTMENT

The prosecution of William Cobb, formerly president of the Collateral Loan Company, and indicted in November, 1914, for stealing $59,000 from the company, was ended today when his case was nol prossed by District Attorney Pelletier, the county prosecutor, saying: "This case involves the authority of the defendant to take certain loans and his methods in so doing. They have resulted favorably to the company, having all been paid.

Cobb was indicted following the arrest of Mrs. Loranna T. Cole, employed at the loan office as a clerk, and her husband, George W. Cole, who were indicted for the larceny of $26,736.71. Cole was sentenced to State prison for five to six years, and she was sentenced to the women's prison at Sherborn.

District Attorney Pelletier further said:

"The rise in the stock market has somewhat changed the aspect of the case, and I would not expect a jury verdict. The company does not want to prosecute unless, in my judgment, it seems necessary."

MRS. KUHN DROPS DEAD AT RECEPTION

Washington, Feb. 10.—Mrs. Joseph E. Kuhn, wife of Major Kuhn, present military attache of the American embassy in Berlin, dropped dead of apoplexy last night at the home of Mrs. Spring-Rice, wife of Mrs. Garrison, as she stood in line assisting Mrs. Garrison receive guests at the Secretary of War's home. News of her death was made public today by Mrs. Kuhn apparently was in the best of health. She was forty-six years old and has been prominent in Washington society for some years.

POINTS OUT BAY STATE BLUNDER

The great failure of the Bay State Street Railway has been its attempt to compete with the New Haven and other big railroad systems, E. Gerry Brown of Brockton said today to the legislative Committee on Street Railways.

"In its struggle to overcome railroad competition the Bay State has neglected its street railway business," said Mr. Brown.

At another point he said, "A monopoly joined with a special privilege is the most dangerous thing in this Commonwealth.

"We men who come here today to argue for public ownership of the street railways may or may not have had our breakfasts. The street railway man who argues against us is paid a big salary. The young man who graduates from college finds his best job in the service of a corporation. If the State owned these railways the people would benefit from the work of these men. The corporations are now drawing the best brains in the State for their own use."

Mr. Brown supported the bill for public ownership of the street railways. The bill carries a referendum to the people. It was enthusiastically indorsed by the representatives of the Massachusetts branch of the American Federation of Labor. It was unopposed.

"It is a growing idea," said Mr. Brown, "that capital will demand a larger rate of return. This will result in continued demands for increased fares unless the State takes over the lines.

"I am of the opinion that the State alone can solve the problem of transportation in metropolitan Boston.

"If we pay the street railways for their property the owners can take their money and invest it to good advantage in other lines of business.

"With reference to the Bay State the old expression that you can't shoot the goose that laid the golden egg. We are the geese, because we have been paying the interest on the stocks and bonds of that company. The Boston Elevated confesses its inability to buy the Bay State as a solution of the Boston rapid transportation problem. The State could buy both and solve the problem."

Timothy McNulty, representing the building trades of Boston, said the time had come "to give a democracy the right to choose its own destiny."

"Under private management," Mr. McNulty said, "the street railways in this State are disgrace to public safety, convenience and health. The problem here is the 'dollar' profit. Under public ownership the problem would be of public good."

John P. Meade of Brockton, Whitfield Tuck of Winchester, James Tansey of the Textile trades and Secretary John P. Bleasius of the Holyoke Central Labor Union favored the bill.

REVENUE BILLS IN ONE MEASURE

Washington, Feb. 10.—The Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee today practically agreed upon the incorporation of all revenue bills, excepting sugar legislation, in one omnibus bill. This includes income tax revision, a tariff commission, taxation of war munitions and possibly an inheritance tax.

SONDER BOAT SPRIG IS SOLD TO CUBAN

The crack sonder class boat Sprig has been sold by Richard d'B. Boardman, Jr., of the Eastern Yacht Club, shipped to its purchaser today on the United Fruit Company's steamer Limon. The Sprig is described as the fastest sonder boat. It cleaned up many victories in 1914.

U. S. WAR RISKS RATE TO REMAIN

Washington, Feb. 10.—The United States bureau of war risk insurance will raise its rates if it bears that German commerce raiders have interfered in any way with neutral shipping. So long as the German raiders confine their activities to seizures of enemy vessels the war risk bureau will maintain its present rates, for it does not insure belligerent shipping.

ROME REPORTS FIVE BATTLES IN ADRIATIC

By CAMILLO CIANFARRA,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Rome, Feb. 10.—Five naval engagements of varying importance have just taken place in the Adriatic, the official announcement of which was made today by the Italian Admiralty, telling of the great activity which is going on in the Adriatic.

"On the afternoon of February 6 the Italian torpedo destroyer, Nullo, engaged two allied cruisers, escorted by an Austrian destroyer of the Huszar type, and also one Austrian aviation plane. The Italian cruiser opened fire and the Austrian ship fled to its base in the Gulf of Cattaro under the protecting fire of the Austrian forts.

"On the same day an allied cruiser pursued four Austrian torpedo boats, compelling them to return to their base. Later an Austrian squadron attacked the same cruiser while the latter was before Dulcigno. The latter soon silenced the cruiser.

"Another submarine attacked, before Cattaro itself, two Italian torpedo boats, which, after warding off torpedoes, attacked the submarine with bombs.

"On the afternoon of February 8 an Austrian submarine attacked and sunk a French cruiser and attacked the Italian submarine cruising off the Albanian coast."

Aviators Wreak Havoc Among Smyrna Turks

By International News Service.

Athens, Feb. 10.—Two hundred Turkish soldiers were killed and scores wounded, three military warehouses burned and two ships were sunk by French aviators who made a successful attack upon Smyrna on Tuesday.

Details of the raid, which was made by a squadron of seven aeroplanes, are given in advices received from Smyrna today.

The aeroplanes rose from warships off the coast of Asia Minor and appeared above Smyrna just after sunrise. Fire from anti-aircraft guns was immediately opened upon the daring French fliers and two German aeroplanes rose to meet them. The French aviators routed their aerial opponents in a conflict lasting only a few moments and then proceeded with their work of destruction.

Four bombs were dropped with phenomenal precision upon a group of buildings in which supplies for the Turkish troops were stored. Three of these bombs fire and burned rapidly. Two bombs smashed a section of the Ottoman barracks, killing or wounding all the soldiers there.

As the French aeroplanes departed they dropped seven bombs upon Turkish ships in the harbor. Two vessels were sunk at their docks and three others damaged.

ALLIED TROOPS LAND TO AID AVLONA

By International News Service.

Rome, Feb. 10.—Allied troops are reported to have landed at Avlona (Avlona), Albania, to reinforce the Italian and Serbian forces defending the city.

Valona is on the Gulf of Valona, fifty miles south of Corfu and sixty miles south of Durazzo. It is the objective of a Bulgarian army which has been advancing slowly through southern Albania and which is now at Berat, about twenty-five miles away. It is possible that French troops from General Meuille-Des Jardin's command at Corfu may have been sent to Valona to assist in the defence of the port.

French soldiers have been landed on Sano Island, fifteen miles northwest of Corfu, and have taken possession.

There is severe fighting in progress north of Durazzo, where both the Serbians and Austro-Hungarians claim to have won a victory. A dispatch to the Idea Nazionale from Durazzo states that Prince William of Wied, former king of Albania, has arrived at Scutari to make a triumphal entry into Durazzo, his former capital, if the Austrians are successful in taking it.

Quiet on the Greek border continues with the exception of intermittent air raids by both sides. The Greeks are said to be massing heavy forces on the northern border of Epirus.

WAR SUMMARY

The first batch of war dispatches today centred around the Albanian struggle. Allied troops are reported to have landed at Avlona, sixty miles south of Durazzo, to reinforce the Italian and Serbian forces now defending Avlona. The same dispatches said that the Bulgarian army which has been advancing southward tarough Albania is now at Berat, which is only twenty-five miles from Avlona. With the Serbians and Austro-Hungarians both claiming victory north of Durazzo and the opposing forces to the south in such proximity decisive news is in prospect.

Among the scattering aerial operations two stood out in the war news. One was a raid by German seaplanes on Kentish coast towns of England, with two women and a child hurt It may drive the news closer home to the general mass to state that Broadstairs, one of the towns raided, is the location of Bleak House, Charles Dickens' home.

The other noteworthy raid, just reported, was by French aviators, who dropped bombs over Smyrna, killing 200 Turkish soldiers and wounding many others.

The continued terrific pressure on all the combatants is hourly emphasized in the demand for "cannon-fodder." The British conscription of compulsory war service bill went into effect today. Its immediate result is an object of widespread interest. The conscription measure is designed to add to the British fighting force about 316,000 single men who failed to come forward under the Derby recruiting scheme.

The Salonica correspondent of the London Times wires that all Rumanian reservists have been ordered home immediately. Prussian boys of seventeen have been ordered to the Landstrum service, according to Amsterdam cables.

Day and night the fearful artillery struggle keeps up along the entire western front, with the Neuville sector, near the Belgian border, as the centre of ferocity. Back of the whole furious engagement is a concerted German intention, according to dispatches from news sources nearest the scene, to effect a drive along the Channel coast and get Dunkirk.

GIANT CANNON THROW SHELLS INTO BELFORT

By International News Service.

Paris, Feb. 10.—German guns believed to have a range of more than twenty miles are being used in a systematic effort to destroy Belfort, the mighty fortress that forms the keystone of the French defence on the eastern frontier.

On Tuesday and Wednesday ten shells were hurled into Belfort by those mighty cannon, which are believed to be the latest output of the Krupp factory at Essen.

French aviators are trying to ascertain the location of the guns, which are probably mounted in some hidden recess of the Vosges mountains. When their position is determined, French officers declare, it will be a simple matter for an air squadron to put them out of commission.

It will be remembered that last year a giant cannon bombarded Dunkirk from a point twenty-two miles away, but after a raid by combined British and French aeroplane squadrons behind the German lines nothing more was heard of the monster gun.

RECIPE TO STOP DANDRUFF

This Home Made Mixture Stops Dandruff and Falling Hair and Aids Its Growth.

To a half pint of water add:
Bay Rum.....1 oz.
Barbo Compound.....a small box
Glycerine.....¼ oz.

These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix them yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other week until all the mixture is used. A half pint should be enough to rid the head of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. It stops the hair from falling out, and relieves itching and scalp diseases.

Although it is not a dye, it acts upon the hair roots and will darken streaked, faded, gray hair in ten or fifteen days. It promotes the growth of the hair and makes harsh hair soft and glossy.

ELY'S CREAM BALM OPENS CLOGGED NOSTRILS AND HEAD—CATARRH GOES

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharge Stops, Head Colds and Dull Headache Vanish.

Get a small bottle, anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleanding, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.—Advertisement.

Ferdinand's Values Are Best

"We Advertise the Truth; the Truth Advertises Us."

Here are some interesting reasons why you should expect Ferdinand's values to be unequalled:

First—We have kept out of the high-rent district. Although it happens that the Elevated makes us easier to reach than any downtown furniture store, it would add $100,000 a year to our selling cost if our establishment were located in the heart of the business district.

Second—We have been in business here for 47 years. We know where and how to buy furniture at the lowest possible prices and we know what New England people want, so that we make no costly mistakes.

Third—We buy in carload lots and have a reputation for integrity which makes manufacturers anxious to sell to us at their lowest prices.

It takes only one visit to our store and comparison of values to prove to you that our values are the best.

BERLIN REPORTS MUCH DAMAGE IN AIR RAID

By International News Service.

Berlin, Feb. 10.—Considerable damage is believed to have been caused to British coast defences at the mouth of the Thames River by two German aeroplanes, which dropped bombs yesterday afternoon and returned safely to their base.

Although fired upon by high angle guns and pursued by British aeroplanes, the German machines were not damaged.

The attack was made only twenty miles from Folkestone and Dover, the two chief ports of embarkation for troops going to France and the middle route from which army supplies are shipped.

London Reports 3 Persons Hurt

By International News Service.

London, Feb. 10.—Two German seaplanes have made another raid on the Kentish coast. This time they were driven off by British aeroplanes and seaplanes before they were able to inflict any great damage.

The raid was aimed at the seaside resort towns of Ramsgate and Broadstairs, which lie two miles apart. Two women and one child were injured.

A dispatch to the Times from Ramsgate says: "Wednesday afternoon two German aeroplanes arrived over Ramsgate from the sea, dropping bombs on the outskirts of the town about 200 yards from the cliff between Ramsgate and Broadstairs. Nearly all the bombs fell in a field. No damage was done except that some windows of a private house were smashed.

"At Broadstairs more bombs were dropped. Four fell in the ground of a girls' school. Most of them exploded before reaching the ground.

"Another bomb fell in the garden of a private house, but did not explode.

"The German aeroplanes were only over the town a few minutes flying at a great height, and then disappeared seawards."

An official statement issued by the War Office attributes the retreat of the raiders to the imposing force of British aircraft which went up to meet them. The statement says:

"In the German air raid Wednesday afternoon two women and one child were injured. A number of naval and military aeroplanes and seaplanes ascended to attack the raiders who retreated immediately. No engagement is reported."

SMITH-DORRIEN QUITS COMMAND

London, Feb. 10—General Sir Smith-Dorrien has given up command of the British forces operating in East Africa, owing to ill health, it is officially announced.

General Jan Christian Schmuts, minister of the interior, mines and defences of the Union of South Africa, has accepted the vacancy with the rank of temporary lieutenant-general.

On December 14 last, General Smith-Dorrien, who had commanded the British second army in Flanders, was appointed to the supreme command of the forces operating in East Africa. That he was in sole command there was indicated recently as February 5, when an official statement issued in London embodied a report from him on satisfactory progress that was being made with the campaign.

It is our earnest desire to correct an

we have unwittingly done to a contemporary.

The Profit Sharing Stamp issued by us bears the Union Label. It has been called many times by our friends and well wishers "THE ORIGINAL UNION LABEL STAMP."

Knowing full well that the expression of our belief in putting the label on our stamps would be imitated—it had been our intention to designate our stamp from those of our competitors, who chose to follow our lead—by the phrase "THE ORIGINAL UNION LABEL STAMP."

We have recently discovered that a few years ago a stamp company was organized under the laws of the State of Massachusetts, whose stamp bore the Union Label. This fact has been called to our attention by one of our competitors who has complimented us by following our lead. We have verified it and hasten to publicly rectify whatever misapprehension our well wishers may unwittingly have created.

For the New England Profit Sharing Stamp We Cannot Claim the Originality of the Union Label.

The Union Trading Stamp Company issued a small number of stamps in 1912 bearing that label.

We congratulate the man who was farsighted enough to put the Label on at that date, and we willingly acknowledge—tho' we believed we were original—his lead.

New England Profit Sharing Stamps have gained a tremendous distribution and a wide popularity. Their redemption values have been quickly appreciated by hundreds of thousands of stamp collectors.

Our Shopping Card feature is rapidly supplanting the old 1000 stamp book method. It has quickened the redemption returns of collectors to a remarkable degree.

Other redemption features of equal value will be added from time to time.

The Entire System Behind These Stamps is One of Fair and Equal Dealing For Our Merchants and Service To Our Collectors.

Our merchants share in our ideas of service to you. Our system includes a co-operative feature in which each of our merchants share in the profits of the Company.

BECAUSE OF THESE FACTS—it is our desire to surround our collectors, our merchants and our stamps with every possible protection against substitution, or good will gained by following the leads we have taken and intend to take in increasing profit sharing efficiency.

THEREFORE—From this date on we will adopt the following slogan:—

"THE STAMP THAT HAS ALWAYS BORNE THE UNION LABEL."

When you see this slogan you will know that the Stamp it advertises is the Stamp you want.

WHEN YOU SEE THIS STAMP

You will know that the Union Label Stamp you are being offered is the right one.

TELLS IT TO THE PLANT JUICE MAN

Mrs. Margaret Hill of No. 110 Putnam St. Says His Medicine Helped Her.

To all who suffer with the symptoms of a deranged stomach, liver and kidney trouble and rheumatism, immediate relief is at hand in the use of this new herbal preparation, Plant Juice. Nothing but science has put forth from the laboratory of Nature has so quickly sprung into world-wide fame and prominence as has this preparation. Nervousness, indigestion, it has taken immediate hold on the public and brought forth words of praise from thousands of all walks of life. It does all that is claimed for it and more, as is verified by the statements of people living in your home city. Possibly your next-door neighbor has proven that this wonderful remedy has been remarkably successful as a gentle-but-strong-yet and a builder-up of wasted organs.

For instance, the signed statement of Mrs. Margaret Hill of No. 110 Putnam street, who has lived in this city for the past 36 years and has many friends, gave the following:

"I have been troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia for the past five or six years. My food fermented in my stomach and caused gas to form and I was short of breath. I had headaches and was very dizzy and had pains all through my body and limbs. I could not sleep at night. In fact, I was in a completely run-down condition and was also constipated that I could hardly get about to do my work. All the medicines and treatments I had taken failed to relieve me, and when a friend recommended me to take Plant Juice I was very skeptical indeed of it ever helping me. However, I got a bottle, and to my great surprise the first dose gave me some relief. I have since continued to used and I can put my stomach in fine condition. I can eat anything I want and digest it, sleep well at night, I am greatly improved in complexion and look and feel like a different woman. What has made the change. I tell them Plant Juice."

The Plant Juice Man is at the Liggett Drug Co.'s store, corner of Washington and Avon Streets, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of his remedy.—Advertisement.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples are Impurities Seeking an Outlet Through Skin Pores.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts or pores that should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate, then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities, which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of hot water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys to normal activity, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink, which usually makes pimples disappear, cleanses the blood, and is excellent for the kidneys as well.—Advertisement.

COL. HOUSE IN LONDON FOR 10 DAYS

By FRANK TEWSON.

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, Feb. 10.—Edward M. House, personal envoy of President Wilson, will take back to Washington a report on conditions in Europe that will have an important bearing on the future diplomatic moves of the American government. He will sail for New York on the liner Rotterdam, February 20, and will proceed at once to Washington to acquaint President Wilson with the results of his mission to London, Paris and Berlin.

Colonel House took luncheon with United States Ambassador Page today, but the conference with Foreign Secretary Grey, which was expected to be the first of a series to take place during Colonel House's stay, was postponed until later in the week.

Colonel House apparently has less fear of Zeppelin airships than have the Londoners. When he arrived here last night he took a suite on the top floor of the Ritz, which might be made the target for bombs.

CLOVER USED TO MAKE POISON GAS

By International News Service.

London, Feb. 10.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Times telegraphs: "Sweden is detaining twenty-four tons of seed consigned to Russian farmers on the ground that Russia has sequestrated a large shipment of clover bought by Swedish agents.

"The Foreign Office states that the clover was seized because a previous consignment had been realshiped by the Swedish consignee to Germany, where clover serves as raw material used in the manufacture of asphyxiating gas."

The value of the Appam's cargo, disposition of which must await a decision of the Washington government, is estimated by port officials at about $650,000.

Mrs. Maude Robinson, former stage favorite and heroine of an "operation" party at her home, No. 5 Babcock street, Brookline, today became a patient at the Dix Brissy Hospital, Newbury street, where she is to undergo a surgical operation.

Dr. Charles Porter of Beacon street is in charge of the case, and it is expected that the operation will take place in three or four days.

Mrs. Robinson, who is the wife of Saul Robinson, a Boston business man, gave her "operation party" last Sunday night. About fifty friends were present at the affair, which was designed to show that she had no fears regarding the coming operation.

At her party Mrs. Robinson appeared far more concerned over her duties as hostess than she did over the approaching operation. She was the life of the party, and seemed as happy as could be as she stood in the receiving line with her husband and her brother, Mrs. C. Morris of New York. At the supper that followed were many toasts for the successful outcome of the operation.

Mrs. Robinson was formerly a well-known stage favorite of New York and Boston. Her stage name was Maude Morris, and she was a member of George M. Cohan's companies, being starred in "The Man Who Owns Broadway."

BROKE HIMSELF OF SMOKING CIGARETTES

A St. Louis Man Broke Himself of Smoking Cigarettes and Chewing by a Simple Home Remedy.

Harry Riska, a well known resident living at 1423 S. 11th St., St. Louis, Mo., broke himself of the cigarette habit and chewing with a simple recipe that he mixed at home. In reply to the question as to what he used he made the following statement: "I used a simple recipe which I mixed at home and which is as follows: To 3 oz. of water add 20 grains of Muriate of Ammonia, a small box of Varlex Compound and 10 grs. of Pepsin. I took a teaspoonful three times a day. Any druggist can mix it for you at very little cost.

"This recipe can be taken yourself or given secretly to another in coffee, tea or milk or in food, as it has no taste, color or smell and is perfectly harmless."

NEW DEMAND BY U.S. CABLED TO AUSTRIA

Washington, Feb. 10.—Secretary of State Lansing has cabled Ambassador Penfield at Vienna, instructing him to demand the punishment of another Austrian submarine commander it became known today.

This time the offence charged against Austria is assault and robbery committed upon an American merchant steamer on the high seas. The steamer is the tanker Petrolite of the Standard Oil line, which was shelled with a five-inch gun by a submarine, a man aboard her being wounded after she had come to a stop and peacefully surrendered to the submarine for the purpose of enabling the Austrians to exercise their right of visit and search.

The demands made upon Austria are the same that have been insisted upon in all submarine atrocities:

1—Apology.
2—Indemnity.

Although it has been realized since the facts in the Petrolite case reached the State Department, that the United States would have to have some form of reparation and reputation of the offence, great surprise was caused by the news that Mr. Lansing had affixed his signature to the protest but twenty-four hours after announcement of the "substantial" settlement with Germany in the Lusitania case.

French Repulse Severe Attack

By International News Service.

Paris, Feb. 10.—The War Office issued the following communique today:

"In Artois the artillery duel has continued from Hill No. 119 as far as the road from Neuville to Thelus. A conflict with hand grenades enabled us to drive the enemy from some communicating trenches occupied by him to the west of La Folie.

"Since nightfall the Germans have directed upon our positions on the road from Neuville to La Folie a severe attack which has thus far been repulsed. The enemy was able to gain a foothold only in one of the craters which we had previously retaken from him.

"To the south of the Somme, in the course of the action reported day before yesterday and yesterday, we took fifty prisoners and captured two rapid-fire guns and a revolver cannon.

Railroad Expert Defends Brandeis' Record

the record. He insisted that the witness should be confined to stating facts within his personal knowledge. The latter was not put in and Senator Walsh questioned the witness sharply as to what personal acquaintance he had with the facts charged in his letter and editorials.

"Would it be my own knowledge," asked Mr. Barron, "if a banker friend of mine told me that you could have knocked me down with a feather when Mr. Brandeis came to him and told him that he (Brandeis) was going over to the other side and advised the banker to go over, too, because the other side had the money, although Mr. Brandeis held a retainer from the banker?"

"That would not be your knowledge," said Senator Walsh. "That banker can tell us that."

Mr. Barron named William F. Fitzgerald of Boston as the banker referred to.

He also named as persons who could give the committee information Wilson S. Youngman and Hollis B. Bailey, Boston lawyers.

The sub-committee held a secret session after today's hearing opened and when the Senators returned to the hearing room Chairman Chilton announced:

"The committee has determined that we are here to investigate the facts in this case, for the enlightenment of the Senate to ascertain the facts and committee will hereafter swear all witnesses."

A scattering of spectators was on hand for today's hearing. Many of them were women and they kept up a hum of conversation that at times almost drowned out the testimony of witnesses. Chairman Chilton had some difficulty enforcing order.

DEFENDED BY EXPERT.

James W. Carmalt, an expert of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the first witness of the day took direct issue with Clifford Thorne's charges against Brandeis, made yesterday. He declared that before admitting in his argument in the 1913 freight rate advance case that the railroads' revenues were inadequate, Mr. Brandeis had made his position on that point clear to his associate counsel. Thorne yesterday charged that Brandeis conceded the "vital contention" of those opposing the proposed increase "without notice of warning."

"Some time before Mr. Brandeis made his argument," said Carmalt, "I had been working with him in preparing his case. I knew that he believed the railroads needed more revenue. I talked to Mr. Thorne about this and my recollection is clear that I told him that Mr. Brandeis would admit that the roads needed more net income."

"Was Mr. Brandeis employed by the commission to represent the railroads, the shippers or the public?" asked Senator Clark. "He was employed to represent all of them, to see that all phases of the case were developed," answered Carmalt.

"Didn't the commission determine that the railroads were adequately represented and that Mr. Brandeis should confine his efforts to the shippers and the public's side of the case?"

"I believe they did."

"Didn't Mr. Brandeis use his talents for the benefit of the railroads as against the public?"

"The record would show that."

SPLIT DEVELOPS.

As Carmalt left the stand a split developed over the manner of conducting the committee. The Republican members, Senators Clark and Cummins, opposed the proposal of the Democrats to swear all witnesses and confine the testimony to matters of fact. The protest was ineffectual and the Democrats insisted on the restrictions.

"I take it that the committee is of the opinion," said Senator Walsh, "that witnesses shall be confined to stating facts. I have been led to believe that many witnesses who are here have no knowledge of substantial facts and that their information has been acquired through newspapers, reports and rumors. I shall insist that witnesses be confined to telling what they know of specific facts."

"I have believed this was an investigation, not a trial. I shall object to any private information which may come to any member of the committee being used to control the examination of witnesses," Mr. Barron, or any one else, has any facts to give it shall insist that the committee receive it. If they are able to tell us the names of any people who may have facts I want them to be permitted to give them."

Frank Lyon, a Washington lawyer, who was employed by the Interstate Commerce Commission as special counsel in the 1910 rate case, was the next witness. He defended Mr. Brandeis.

SPELLING OPPOSED.

Thomas C. Spelling of New York, formerly attorney for the Interstate Commerce Commission and former Assistant Attorney-General, next took the stand.

Spelling talked for an hour about various proceedings before the Interstate Commerce Commission. His principal complaint against Brandeis was that the latter had kept for six weeks a brief that Spelling submitted to him for his approval. Spelling said that he wanted the brief because he wanted to file it with the commission.

He said Brandeis acted in "bad faith" because he delayed the filing of the brief. Spelling also was indignant because he was forced to act through Brandeis in representing shippers in the 1910 rate case.

Plan Aviation Defence Point at Marblehead

The Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Company of Buffalo announces that it has acquired the Burgess Company of Marblehead. W. Starling Burgess, head of the Massachusetts company, will become a director in the Curtiss Company.

The sum paid is approximately $1,000,000, partly in cash and partly in securities of the Curtiss Company.

The new combination will organize a North Atlantic station at Marblehead for coast defence. A large number of aircraft will be held available for call. A South Atlantic station will be established at Newport News, Va.

The Great Lakes will be protected by the Curtiss plant at Buffalo, while a similar organization is planned for San Diego, Cal., in the near future.

The Burgess Company now has under construction thirteen aeroplanes for the United States government, as well as a number of machines for the national guard organizations of various States.

LOVE LETTERS OF DR. MOHR MAY FURNISH TRAGEDY CLEW

"black book," in which he entered receipts for 1915, up to the time he was killed.

Mrs. Mohr has maintained that her husband made $52,000 a year. The "black book" showed that from January 1, 1915, to August 31, 1915 (the date of the shooting) Dr. Mohr's practice netted him $32,225.58, or over $4,000 a month. On this basis Mrs. Mohr's claim of $52,000 a year was not materially exaggerated.

HEARING FOR WORKS.

Attorney-General Herbert A. Rice said today:

"The perjury charges against Spellman's wife and sister will be prosecuted until the end."

A hearing for the two women was set for February 18, but it is announced that this date will be continued, owing to Judge Charles F. Stearns and the court stenographer both being absent on vacations.

Spellman's attorney reiterates the denial that his client is breaking in any way. But close relatives of Spellman and of his wife have talked earnestly with him. The gist of their pleadings, it is said, is that Spellman should do anything in his power to save the situation, both on his own account and that of his wife and sister.

Attorney William H. Lewis, counsel for Brown, is expected here tomorrow to confer with Attorney Edwards. Spellman's counsel, on the expected appeal and on other urgent features of the case.

Attorney Edwards declared today that he knew of no efforts to get his client to turn State's evidence. He said:

"We expect to have in hand by Saturday the $1,000 necessary to carry an appeal to the Supreme Court. I do not think that they had anything on Spellman. With that idea in view we shall not wait until payment is done."

Increases Weight 25 Pounds

And Would Not Take One Hundred Dollars for His New-Found Flesh
Interesting Statement of Ohio Man

"When I started taking Sargol," writes H. E. Hensinger, of Ohio, "my weight was only 135 pounds. Now I weigh 160 and am the picture of health. I would not take a hundred dollars for what it has done. I am stronger than I ever was before.

"When I began to take Sargol," writes R. T. Steele, "I only weighed 138 pounds. Now my weight has increased to 151 lbs. Everybody says that I am getting so fat." A lady customer says: "Before I started using Sargol I weighed 112 lbs. Now I have gained 10 lbs. and am gaining every day, Sargol makes me eat and sleep and I don't get up with a tired feeling any more," writes A. D. Weaver, and N. D. Sanderson adds, "when I started Sargol I weighed 147 lbs. and now I weigh 160 lbs. Everybody is telling me how fat you have got in the last month."

Would you, too, like to quickly put from 10 to 20 lbs. of good, solid, "stay there" flesh on your body? Would you like to see the fat and muscular tissue between your skin and bones?

Don't say it can't be done. Try it. Let us send you free a 50c package of Sargol and prove what it can do for you.

More than half a million men and women have gladly made this test and that Sargol does succeed, does make thin folks fat even where all else has failed, is conclusively proven by our opinion by the tremendous business we have done. No drastic diet, flesh creams, massages, oils or exercises, but a simple, harmless home treatment. Cut out the coupon and send for this free package today, enclosing only 10 cents in silver to help pay postage, packing, etc.

Address the Sargol Co., 43-F Herald Bldg., Binghamton, N. Y. Take Sargol with your meals and watch it work. This will tell the story.

LITTLE PIMPLES ON FACE, NECK

And Hands. Became Scaly and Skin Was Sore. Ashamed To Go Out. Lasted Three Months.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"One night before retiring I was troubled with an itching and in the morning I found that my face was all broken out with little pimples, and then they came on my neck and hands. The pimples became scaly and my skin was so sore that I had to bathe it with cold water to stop the pain down, and I scratched and my face became enraged, I was so red and sore I was ashamed to go outdoors at all. It lasted about three months. I tried ——— to no purpose. A friend told me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I did, and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and one-half a box of Cuticura Ointment I regained my complexion, and was completely healed." MY TIRED FEET ACHED FOR "TIZ"

Let your sore, swollen, aching feet spread out in a bath of "Tiz."

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dip in that "Tiz" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "Tiz." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

Get a 25 cent box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get, how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire. "Tiz" is the all reliable drug gists.—Advertisement.

How to Rid the Skin of Objectionable Hairs

Apply (Aids to Beauty)
A simplified method is here given for the quick removal of hairy or fuzzy growths and rarely is more than one treatment required: Mix a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every hair has vanished. This simple treatment cannot cause injury, but care should be exercised to get real delatone.—Advertisement.

GIRL RETURNED CARESSES OF DENTIST

Dr. George M. Lee, a Brookline dentist, kissed and hugged Hazel Dimick of Malden and she returned these evidences of affection. But Damon E. Hall, master appointed by the Superior Court, has decided that Dr. Lee cannot be held on a charge of feloniously attacking the young woman.

Miss Dimick sued Dr. Lee to settle a claim for $2,500 in payment for an alleged attack on her. The master says there was no attack and that Dr. Lee made the agreement under fear of prosecution and of publicity. Therefore the claim is set aside.

The finding, just filed, tells in detail how Dr. Lee met Miss Dimick without an introduction in Swampscott, how they had frequent meetings where they kissed and hugged each other, and, the master says, "She accepted these attentions without reserve. They were agreeable to her, and she returned the caresses in kind."

Miss Dimick visited the office of Dr. Lee weekly from December 1, 1914, to July 7, 1915. The treatment of her teeth, according to the finding of Master Hall, and she alleged that on April 21, 1915, the doctor attacked her in his office.

"Miss Dimick is nineteen years old with an attractive personality, but her appearance and demeanor on the witness stand indicated an absence of strong mental or moral purposes or character," according to the master's report. "Dr. Lee is twenty-eight years old and single, and is possessed of average worldly knowledge, but is not of aggressive character or disposition."

With her cousin, Miss Kendrick, Miss Dimick met Dr. Lee and a friend in Swampscott in August, 1914, while the girls were enjoying a vacation. The couple were not introduced, and on the evening of the meeting visited the home of a young man and spent the evening, "singing, playing the piano and hugging and kissing," says the report, which continues:

Almost nightly meetings followed and the participants always hastened to some secluded rendezvous, where, hugging, kissing and sitting in the laps of the young men might be indulged in without disturbance or interruption.

SHE MADE NO OBJECTION.

I find the plaintiff not only made no objection to such familiarities, but accepted them without reserve, that they were agreeable to her and she returned his caresses in kind. During this period Miss Dimick went under the name of Hazel Lorraine and was thus known as Lee.

A number of meetings were held in Chelsea, Malden and Swampscott and they took walks and sat in the grass with their arms around each other, exchanging kisses.

Miss Dimick continued her weekly visits to the doctor's office for treatment after the alleged attack, and continued to receive his hugs and kisses until after she became engaged to Stanley B. Crosford, about June 1, according to the report. Then her sense of loyalty to Crosford, the master says, made his caresses unwelcome and finally resulted in a break between them.

When this break came, with Crosford's assistance and suggestions, Miss Dimick considered bringing some sort of a suit against Lee. The basis of her complaint at that time was not an alleged felonious attack on April 21, but because Dr. Lee persisted in kissing her after she had become engaged to Crosford. Between April 21 and July 1 she visited the doctor's office weekly and paid him for his services, and the hugging and kissing continued till June 1.

"Her whole complaint on the witness stand," says the master, "was that of a silly young girl who had been engaged in a flirtation not displeasing to her."

A SECRET ENGAGEMENT.

About April 1 last Miss Dimick met Crosford and they fell in love, and became engaged to marry the latter part of May, but their engagement was kept a secret, even from her parents, until July 19 last. Dr. Lee's caresses, according to the master, began to be distasteful to Miss Dimick and she requested him to desist, but he continued to hug and kiss her on the weekly visits. She resisted the hugs and kisses and threatened to have her words done elsewhere.

This situation gradually became strained and on July 2, 1915, Crosford telephoned to Dr. Lee that he wanted his attentions stopped, according to the master's report.

Crosford, unknown to Miss Dimick, called on Dr. Lee and intimated that there would be trouble. He obtained a written agreement from Dr. Lee that the latter would pay the expenses of Miss Dimick's treatment by another dentist and Crosford's attorney's legal expenses.

This agreement was made by Dr. Lee to avoid any scandal or notoriety as he was conscious of his arresting the girl after she told him of her engagement and felt he had done wrong, the master said.

Crosford then saw John J. O'Connor, an attorney, and the lawyer consulted Miss Dimick. Attorney O'Connor and interviewed Dr. Lee with the result that the latter signed an agreement to pay $2,500 in settlement of the claim against him. The master said the lawyer believed an attack had actually occurred and that his client intended that he should so believe. This is the agreement which was set aside.

ARMOR COMBINE LASHED BY TILLMAN

By International News Service.

Washington, Feb. 10. — Senator Bejamin R. Tillman, chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee, today delivered a vitriolic denunciation of the armor plate manufacturers in a report urging immediate passage of the armor plant bill. The armor plate companies, he said, were the highwaymen in a position to force the government to "Stand and deliver."

"There are only three manufacturers of armor in this country, and the result is either a monopoly or a combine of the worst type," declared Senator Tillman.

"The government is compelled to buy its products because the law does not allow the Secretary of the Navy to go out of the country to buy it. The manufacturers have no fear of private competition for there is not sufficient demand for armor to justify the entrance of other parties.

"As long as the present conditions continue armor manufacturers are in position to force the United States government in the language of the highwayman to 'Stand and deliver.' "It suffices to say," concludes the report, "that the committee is of the opinion that the government has been charged unreasonable prices for its armor plate and that the only remedy lies in the government owning and operating a plant. Should the government build it and then lock it up and it never be used, it would be wise to erect it, as it would serve as a warning to private manufacturers that there is a point beyond which the government will not be driven and where patience ceases to be a virtue."

CITY GETS $748 AT AUCTION OF 14 BUILDINGS

Fourteen buildings of the group taken by eminent domain at a cost of $500,000 to the city to make room for the new Ward 19 playground were sold at auction today for $748.

The buildings sold are on Smith street, Smith street place and Phillips street. Buildings on Tremont street and Upper Phillips street will be auctioned later.

The auction was conducted by Municipal Auctioneer Edward Foye, assisted by Thomas J. Melton.

A six-story brick building in the rear of No. 7 Smith street place brought the largest amount, T. Boor paying $225 for it. A two-and-one-half-story house at No. 3 Smith street brought only $10. All the buildings will be torn down.

Virginia Votes Down Attack on Decollette

By International News Service.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 10.—Declaring that short skirts and low-cut waists cause the downfall of young men, Delegate William H. Myers of Richmond offered an amendment to the Browning anti-redlight district.

The amendment provides limitations in women's dresses as follows:

That no female shall appear in public within this Commonwealth with a skirt which does not reach within four inches of the ground, with a waist or bodice which exposes more than three inches of the chest or back, and that no transparent skirt shall be worn.

The amendment was voted down.

TRAIN BANDIT ROBS SCORE IN WYOMING

By International News Service.

Laramie, Wyo., Feb. 10.—A lone bandit held up and robbed a score of passengers in two Pullman sleepers on eastbound Union Pacific passenger train No. 18 between Green River, Wyo., and here late last night. He obtained less than $200 and a few watches.

The bandit refused to molest the women passengers, but compelled all the men in the berths to contribute.

Climbing aboard the observation platform of the rear Pullman just as the train was pulling out of Green River, the robber cowed the porter with his revolver and compelled him to open the curtains of each berth.

Finding most of the berths in the rear car occupied by women the bandit apologized and forced the porter into the car ahead. There he found nearly a score of men and compelled each to give up his cash and valuables. As he and the two porters were passing into the next car they encountered Conductor Fitzgerald.

The conductor refused to obey the bandit's command to throw up his hands and dashed back into the rear car. The bandit jerked the emergency signal cord to stop the train, ran back to the platform, leaped off and escaped.

SEEKS SURPLUS OF COLLATERAL FOR THE POOR

Clarence W. Rowley, city director of the Collateral Loan Company today stated his belief that the company has in its treasury a surplus of $500,000 over from the sale of unredeemed pledges which he seeks to have given out in fuel to the poor.

This amount, he said, is the accumulation of sales and interest since 1875. The original charter of the company provided that the surplus should be given in fuel to the poor, but that provision was eliminated in 1875 and Mr. Rowley declares that the company has since conducted itself as a business institution pure and simple.

W. J. Rich, business manager of the company, said the surplus amounts to only $25,434.94. He offered to present the books of the company to substantiate his statement.

Mr. Rowley appeared before the legislative Committee on Banks and Banking in support of Mayor Curley's bill to limit the profits of the company to 6 per cent, and to make annual distribution of the surplus from unredeemed sales to the poor.

CHARGE'S IMMENSE PROFITS.

He said the company declared a profit of 100 per cent in one year and that the surplus from unredeemed pledges was $8,000 last year.

"The Collateral Loan Company was organized in 1829 under a special charter which provided that the earnings to be divided among the stockholders should never exceed 8 per cent, and that the entire surplus, both of interest and from unclaimed surplus proceeds of sales of unredeemed pledges, should be doled in fuel to the poor and needy," Mr. Rowley said.

"In 1875 the charter was amended by striking out the provision limiting the dividends to 8 per cent, and by striking out the provision requiring the surplus to be divided in charity, but no provision was made for the application of surplus proceeds from the sale of unredeemed pledges other than to leave the provision found in the original charter that such surplus should be held one year for the owner."

SAYS MONEY BELONGS TO POOR.

"The unclaimed surplus from the sale of unredeemed pledges since 1875 has been retained by the Collateral Loan Company. The average surplus for those years indicates that the total amount from the sale of unredeemed pledges with interest amounts to at least $500,000.

"The money was taken from the poor people of this vicinity. It being impossible to return the money to the individuals owning it, it should be used for the relief of the people of the same class as those from whom it came."

John F. Moore, the State director of the company, said that the business is efficiently managed, and that it pays taxes to the city, which other institutions of its kind are not obliged to pay. He opposed Mr. Rowley's bill.

HANS SCHMIDT TO DIE NEXT WEEK

New York, Feb. 10.—Hans Schmidt, the clergyman who, on September 2, 1915, murdered Anna Aumuller, dismembered her body and threw the fragments into the Hudson River, is spending his last week on earth in the death house at Sing Sing.

He is to die next week, probably on Tuesday morning, and he has vowed that he will go to his chair leaving behind him proofs of his innocence, so that his death shall result in the abolition of capital punishment forever.

Governor Whitman last night declined to interfere with the execution. The governor said he had reviewed the medical testimony and two experts had examined the body for him.

Six Missing Ships May Be Prey of Raider

By International News Service.

London, Feb. 10.—Six ships listed at Lloyds today as missing may be victims of the mysterious German commerce raider that captured the Appam. Four of the supposed victims are British, one is Spanish and one is Italian. They have a total tonnage of 5,411.

The names of the six ships and their nationality and tonnage:

SCHOOLMATES ELOPE FROM REVERE

A football romance, begun a year ago, culminated in Portsmouth, N. H., when Alfred S. Hall, Jr., a Revere High School senior, the son of former Senator Alfred S. Hall, president of the Revere City Council, was secretly married to Katherine A. Corbett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Corbett of Seaview avenue, Revere. The news of the wedding became known today.

According to Hall's father, his son is but seventeen, instead of twenty-one, the age he gave to City Clerk Frederic E. Drew of Portsmouth, who married the couple. Miss Corbett is also said to be but seventeen, instead of eighteen, as she gave her age.

SUFFRAGE UNION MOVES TO NEW QUARTERS

The Massachusetts branch of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage, of which Mrs. Phoebe Hearst represents California on the advisory council, will open new quarters at No. 388 Boylston street today. The Massachusetts branch has had quarters at the Copley-Plaza.

The new quarters are hardly ready for occupancy, but after brief exercises the women will don their "old clothes" and take up the work where the painters and carpenters left off and begin to put "things to right."

Miss Julia Marlowe, who is a member of the advisory council from New York, may visit the new headquarters today.

Cures Colds—Coughs
When Ordinary Preparations Fail—Wonderful New Mixture Made at Home.

An investigating doctor and chemist of national renown, a few years ago, made a remarkable discovery in a simple compound, which contained no opiates or "dopes" and now known to the medical world as ESSENCE MENTHO-LAXENE. It has most wonderful virtue as a curative, laxative, tonic, cough and cold medicine, being so much more thorough in driving from the system deep-seated, long-standing ailments of this character. As marketed by the drug trade, it is a powerful, though perfectly harmless concentration, and the best part is that one can buy it, mixed and by using simple sugar syrup or honey make a full pint of the most delicious and effective cough syrup ever discovered. It absolutely stops a cold in its incipiency, and if acquired, it will at once relieve and quickly overcome the most obstinate cold or cough, including bronchitis, la grippe, hoarseness and even whooping cough. Your druggist should supply you, even if no usual order from his wholesaler. Every wholesale druggist and thousands of retail druggists throughout the U. S. and Canada sell many gross of ESSENCE MENTHO-LAXENE every year. Do not take a cheap substitute and be robbed. Every bottle is guaranteed satisfactory or money back by The Blackburn Products Co., Mfg. Chemists, Dayton, Ohio.—Advertisement.

Famous Movie Star Condemns Curling Iron

Little Mary Pickford, whose pretty curly locks have been so much admired, writes that she has never used the curling iron. She fails to see the wisdom of burning the life out of the hair.

"That the heated iron is ruinous to the hair is being more and more appreciated. Many are discarding this instrument of torture in favor of plain liquid silmerine. This is not only harmless, but is really beneficial to the hair. Instead of giving one's tresses a burnt-out, lifeless appearance, it gives them a bright lustre, and the curliness looks altogether natural. It is a simple thing to procure a few ounces of liquid silmerine from the druggist and apply a little at night with a clean toothbrush. The hair should be moistened the full length, from root to tip. The beautiful wavy effect upon arising is agreeably surprising."—Advertisement.

SAYS STOREY DIDN'T WANT MORE MONEY

Henry J. Bowen of South Boston, one of the executors of the estate of Joseph Storey, was a witness today in the contest over the will of William Henry Storey, which is being heard by a jury in the Superior Court. Bowen testified:

"I met William Henry Storey at his brother's funeral. At that time he did not make any statement about his brother having "robbed him," nor did he declare he would contest his brother's will. On April 18, 1911, Storey asserted he did not want any of his brother's money, as he had plenty of his own."

ADAMS COMPANY INCREASES PAY

Adams, Feb. 10.—The L. L. Brown Paper Company today announced an increase in the pay of the employes of between seven and ten per cent. Two hundred hands will share in the raise. The increase was voluntary.

Who wrote "THREE WEEKS" has written a brand-new story

She calls it "The Career of Katherine Bush"—and it begins in the March Cosmopolitan.

If you read "Three Weeks"—the mere announcement of the new story is enough.

For that big short love-story won its way to your heart because it might almost have been your story—even before the frankness of it made the world sit up and rub its eyes.

Well—the world will sit up again when the tale of Katherine Bush begins to unfold.

For, though Katherine Bush is a very unusual girl, her case is not unusual.

She, and other women who have made the mistake she makes in the first chapter—even though they make it unwittingly or perhaps against their wills, instead of deliberately, as she did—have got to be provided for in the big scheme of life.

Katherine Bush is about the most human woman you ever met.

Weighing carefully what she had to lose—was her mistake a mistake—or a step?

What was it worth to her in after life to have learned from Lord Algy, who wasn't her husband, how to eat oysters? And that—in certain circles—one bathes every day?

Would he or she or anyone have been happier or even better—

If she had married him when he begged her to?

But maybe you don't like to read things that make you Think!

It begins in the March

CONSCRIPTION IN EFFECT IN ENGLAND

London, Feb. 10—Conscription in England is now a fact. The military service bill providing for compulsory military service went into effect today in accordance with the privy council February 2.

The conscription bill has designed to bring into the army approximately 216,464 available single men who failed to attest themselves while the Derby recruiting scheme was in operation and open the way for married men who have been holding back.

In his report on the success of his recruiting campaign Lord Derby estimated that 651,160 bachelors of military age had failed to enroll. However, basing the computation upon the same figures that were applied to the Derby volunteers, it is estimated that approximately 334,694 men must be deducted for various reasons.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR, THICK, WAVY, FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Save your hair! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain!—That's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after an application of Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scrubby, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, charming, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed. For sale by all reliable druggists.—Advertisement.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Advertisement.

GRIPPE NOW EPIDEMIC PUBLIC TAKE WARNING

KEEP AWAY FROM SNEEZERS AND COUGHERS AND MAKE THROAT GERM PROOF WITH OXIDASE

People everywhere are commenting on the epidemic of grippe, pneumonia, coughs and colds that has struck Boston, just as it has attacked Chicago, Philadelphia, Milwaukee, Detroit and other cities. A warning is issued to the public by the Health authorities to "keep away from those who are sneezing and coughing and to keep out of crowds as much as possible as the air is filled with infectious germs of disease."

One of the simplest and best ways to avoid contracting or to quickly stop coughs and colds which may lead to Grippe or Pneumonia is to breathe deeply through the nose, walk in the fresh air as much as possible and keep the throat clean, antiseptic and germ-proof by dissolving in the mouth two or three times daily a little Oxidase, in tablet form. These Oxidase tablets are made from a physician's prescription and will knock out the average cough or cold inside of twenty-four hours. A few tablets taken in time will almost invariably prevent the cold becoming grippe, pneumonia or something worse. Many of the best druggists have these Oxidase tablets and sell them on the positive guarantee that they will break up a cold and stop a cough or money back. Be sure to insist on Oxidase (tablet form) and take nothing in their place. They are easy and convenient to take, contain no habit-forming drugs and, unlike ordinary cough drops and cough remedies, are guaranteed to stop your cold or money back.—Advertisement.

Mrs. Nina Duryea was the speaker today in the series of lectures that are given under the auspices of the Special Preparedness Society of which Mrs. Barrett Wendall is the president. Miss Duryea's subject was "My Experience with the Allies in France."

Motor Notes

By J. C. KERRISON.

Charles E. Fay, manager of the Boston branch of the Ford Motor Company, has returned from a somewhat extended trip to the home office in Detroit where he attended the annual conference of the Ford branch managers. Ford men were present from all parts of this country, as well as from Canada, France, England and other European countries. Throughout the week of conference the spirit of progress was everywhere noticeable, and the future for the Ford Company was shown to possess an exceptionally bright appearance.

F. H. Lucas, general manager of the Pope-Hartford Company, distributers of the Mitchell cars, returned yesterday from the Mitchell plant at Racine, Wis. Mr. Lucas went West to arrange for his show exhibits, and likewise to increase the allotment of Mitchell cars due him this season. He was successful in both, and makes this statement: "The Mitchell exhibit at the motor show will be the most attractive in the big building."

F. A. Ordway of the Henley-Kimball Company, who has recently returned from the Hudson plant in Detroit, brings back the information that the factory is working three shifts of eight hours each every work day of the year. "The demand for the Hudson Super-Six," says he, "has been most wonderful, and even by working the factory the full twenty-four hours a day the company is still behind in its orders.

LINK MERCHANT MARINE WITH NAVY NEEDS

By International News Service.

Washington, Feb. 10—Secretary of the Navy Daniels today declared that the building up of an adequate merchant marine was such a pressing problem that it could not widely be separated by Congress by the program for enlarging and strengthening the navy, in an address before the United States Chamber of Commerce at its closing session.

"The present Congress will be called upon to give most of its time to preparedness," Secretary Daniels said. "This embraces ships for the carrying of freight as well as ships mounting the biggest guns and carrying the most implements of war.

"Merchant marine and an adequate navy are our two chief needs," he continued. "They are one and inseparable, and we really cannot discuss the one without finding it interlinked with the other."

Not only by the addition of new ships is the navy seeking to be prepared said the secretary, but the department has summoned to its aid the counsel of the foremost inventors and scientists of the country in the government's plan to be able to draw upon the nation's genius in time of crisis.

The right of America to feed the world was emphasized by the secretary, who said:

"We do not propose to surrender that right or permit it to be placed in jeopardy."

National defence discussion and action and upon committee reports occupied the larger part of the day. Election of officers was scheduled for the late afternoon to be followed tonight by a banquet at which President Wilson will speak.

SEPARATE PEACE ONLY, FOR KAISER

Amsterdam, Feb. 10—The Kolnische Volks Zeitung, discussing peace possibilities, asserts that Germany will never consent to enter a general peace conference, but will consent to negotiate only with each individual enemy. Germany takes the ground, the paper adds, that a general conference would give Great Britain the upper hand.

DENY KITCHENER IS TO QUIT WAR POST

London, Feb. 10—Reports that Earl Kitchener is soon to leave the War Office and is to be succeeded by Lord Derby are denied in well informed circles today. It is stated that no changes in the ministry are contemplated. It is also denied that Kitchener will go to Egypt in the near future.

London, Feb. 10—The Salonica correspondent of the Times telegraphs: "All Rumanian reservists have been ordered home immediately."

More Than 10,000 Are in Want of Food as Result of Great Flood

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 10.—With the Mississippi, Arkansas and White rivers falling and warm and clear weather prevailing, the flood devastated areas in Arkansas and Northern Louisiana today faced the work of restoring normal conditions.

More than 10,000 persons in Mississippi and Arkansas are in need of food. Hundreds or poor farmers lost their livestock and provisions, and many of them are homeless.

The city of Lake Village, Ark., was the scene of the most serious conditions of any in the flooded district today, backwater still standing deep in the streets of the town.

FREE UNIFORMS FOR NEEDY AT HARVARD

Captain Constant Coolidge of the Harvard Regiment has issued orders that every member attending the lectures to be given next Monday afternoon by General Leonard Wood must appear in full regimental dress. Orders were issued also that, starting Monday, every man must wear his uniform at drill. The members of the company financially unable to buy the service dress are to be furnished one without cost. A regimental form and government book has been prepared and will be issued shortly.

Are You Losing Money?

Or are you saving it by buying Hathaway's Bread instead of baking your own?

Here are the figures: Hathaway's Cream Bread costs 10 cents a loaf. The average family (five persons) will consume a loaf a day, seven a week.

To make the same loaves the average housewife must spend for materials alone:

6 pounds of flour at 4c a pound	24c
1⅛ quarts milk at 10c a quart	15c
Shortening, 3 ounces	3c
Salt and incidentals	1c
Yeast, 2 cakes	4c
Any woman can earn 15c an hour on special work. Your maid's time will cost that much and two bakings a week mean at least three hours' time—a labor cost of	45c
Total	92c

This makes no allowance for extra fuel or for loaves spoiled in baking.

Compare the convenience of buying a fresh loaf daily from your dealer at a total cost of 70 cents with the inconvenience of baking your own bread at a cost of 92 cents.

The Day of the Famous Boston Tea Party

On that day, the citizens of Boston made their initial stand against the high cost of living. If they couldn't have tea without unjust taxation, why, then they'd do without it.

The mothers of New England have always made their stand against taxing the digestion by providing their families with an abundance of good, pure bread.

Rickard, Jones, et al, Get Together and Put Up First Deposits Binding Title Battle

By ED CURLEY.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—It was rather a society atmosphere that hung over the Claridge Hotel yesterday afternoon for all members of the select circles were present to witness the signing up of Jess Willard and Frank Moran.

As you probably know, these two husky young men are to spar ten rounds at Madison Square Garden March 8 for a lot of money. Jess is to receive $47,500, while Frank will be slipped $22,500.

This can all agreed upon a week ago, but according to Marquis of Queensberry rules it is imperative to hold many meetings. Therefore, there was a gathering of all those concerned, and many who were not, to witness the depositing of the coin to bind the match.

Seeking a worthy stakeholder those interested fell upon Bob Vernon, Bob meekly agreed to accept the honorary position. When it was all over Vernon held five $1,000 bills, a check of $10,000, one of $5,000 and a small one calling for $2,500.

It is well to explain all about this dough. Thomas Jones, manager of Willard, was the gent that handed over the $5,000 in real coin to bind the match. "Tex" Rickard and Sam McCracken, his partner, put up the checks for $10,000 and $5,000, respectively, to carry out their part of the agreement. Isaac Dorgan, manager of Moran, posted the $2,500 to bind Willard's challenger.

According to the original articles, Rickard and McCracken were to post the sum of $20,000. As Rickard said there was no question of putting up the $20,000, but the $15,000 troubled the stakes of the fighters, so why worry over $5,000.

Another interesting part of the afternoon was the tilt over a referee. Tom Jones declared that when he signed articles in Chicago, it was expressly stipulated that Jack Skelly, old-time fighter, would officiate.

Ike Doran, manager of Moran, made a long speech in favor of "Biff" Brown. After all hands had tired themselves out talking, it was decided to postpone the referee question until today or tomorrow.

HARVARD PERSONALS

BILLY RUSSELL will come from Providence Saturday, and with Fred Roegue, coach of the Arena team, run the first game of the Harvard-Princeton series.

THE Eli puck chasers have not settled Manager Enright when they will strike the Hub, but will probably not leave for New Haven until Saturday morning.

IF Harvard cleans up on the series with Yale, and then takes "Hobey" Baker of St. Nicks into camp, the Crimson can well lay claim to the national amateur championship title.

FOR RHEUMATIC MISERY

There is no place for rheumatic pains and misery, if you will only follow the advice of an old, experienced physician. Levi Minard prescribed and used Minard's liniment for soreness, stiffness, swelling and all rheumatic pains.

There is no other remedy that can take its place. It has never failed and is perfectly harmless, economical, agreeable and clean to use, as it is absolutely stainless.

Minard's liniment, obtained from any druggist, is wonderfully soothing, penetrating and effective in all cases of strains, lumbago, sore joints, stiffness, sciatica and rheumatism.

THE RABBITS' COLUMN

By Walter J. Maranville
SHORTSTOP OF THE BRAVES

One of the helpful signs of the times is that Johnny Evers appears contented and happy. If our captain returns to his good health and feels himself he will help me and the team a whole lot. I am glad to find he didn't pay any attention to that trade talk, and now that he has met President Haughton, I am sure he will come through. There is nothing like having peace of mind.

* * *

Johnny has two years more on his contract, and the fans know what fair means to the club should he continue to keep his stride. The Braves are more or less of a problem at present, but Manager Stallings appears to have great confidence in the team. This will go a long way toward giving them the "pep" needed to keep them on their toes. Then again the ownership will figure. There is not a man on the team but what will want to show Messrs. Haughton and Wise the very best in their power.

* * *

Giving the presidents of the National league added power is another move in the right direction. Once a president has made a ruling it should stand. Otherwise there is much that lacks dignity in the organization.

* * *

Big figures in contracts keep the owners busy. There is every indication that men who own ball clubs are willing to pay reasonable salaries, but they refuse to assume war-time contracts.

* * *

Was glad to learn that George Whitted had come to terms with Moran. "The Duke" will make good with a rush.

* * *

Catchers are hard to secure. Herzog evidently means to keep Wingo, and it looks as if "Chief" Meyers would be with Brooklyn. That takes two possible receivers away, and leaves us with a pretty weak catching staff, unless the club can get a catcher. I hope so.

* * *

From a bat boy to a job with the Tigers is some jump. Ford Moore may show "Cobb" that the young gentleman kicked one in not keeping him.

* * *

The absence of Harry Sinclair from the corridors of the Waldorf-Astoria proved a distinct disappointment to many Federal Leaguers who are in New York first, last and all the time to find out if possible how they can connect with the money he represented in the face of their 1916 contracts. Meanwhile the cold-nil boniface says nothing and finds his ball players hard to sell.

DEAL A CALLER AND BACK IN GOOD TRIM

Charley Deal, the Braves' third baseman in 1914, and who played with the St. Louis Feds in the 1915 campaign, came to Boston on a shopping tour yesterday. He is Wintering at Newport, R. I., and has entirely recovered from his serious illness last Fall when he lost some twenty-five pounds in weight. Deal is now Benny Jones' property and has received orders to report to the new manager of the St. Louis Browns at Palestine, Tex., March 5.

Leslie Nunamaker, the former Red Sox and now leading catcher of the Yankees, had about made up his mind to pass up the proposed trip of his home at Aurora, Neb. He is due at the Macon, Ga., training camp with the advance squad so as to work with the pitchers. Hence, may remain in Boston until it comes time to start South.

SALE MAKES BIG HIT WITH ED KONETCHY

St. Louis, Feb. 10.—Ed Konetchy, first baseman of the Pittsburgh Feds, is elated over his purchase by the Braves. He said: "I am mighty glad to be with the Braves. It is a husting aggregation. Stallings is the kind of a manager who gets results. I now think the Boston club has figured me. I will be in there husting to give Stallings the best I have."

Ebbets Claiming Meyers Is to Join His Club

New York, Feb. 10.—"Chief" Meyers, the Giants' Indian catcher, is slated to be sold to Brooklyn, Charley Ebbets, owner of the Brooklyn Club, announced last night at the National League dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria that McGraw had asked waivers on the backstop and that Brooklyn had put in a claim for the Indian.

A canvass of the National League owners determined that no other club, with the exception of the Braves, had put in a claim for the Indian.

Meyers signed a three-year contract with the Giants in the Spring of 1914. It calls for $7,500 a year.

Up to the time Meyers signed his three-year contract he was a .300 hitter, but immediately afterward he began to slump. In 1914 he hit for .286 but last season fell off to .222.

Meyers is only a thirty-four years old July 29. He was born at Riverside, Cal., and is a Mission Indian. He started playing professional ball with the Harrisburg (Tri-State League) Club in 1908. The following year he went to the Butte (Northwestern League) Club. Butte sold him to the St. Paul (American Association) Club and in 1909 he was bought by the Giants for $3,000.

BILL SWEENEY WILL ADDRESS DINERS

A big "Athletic Night" will be given at the Quincy House next Thursday evening by the alumni and undergraduates of Boston College. The guests of the evening will include the 1915 football team and prominent alumni. Among the speakers will be Rev. Charles W. Lyons, S. J., president of Boston College; Edward J. Brandon, '85, president of the graduate athletic board, and Bill Sweeney, formerly of the Braves, who has recently joined baseball coach. This will be Sweeney's first appearance before the undergraduate body, and it is expected he will give an outline of his plans for the coming season. Rev. Stephen Mahoney of the 1915 football eleven will make his report on the prospects for next Fall.

B. C. OUT WITH ITS DATES ON DIAMOND

Boston College's baseball schedule for the coming season is out. The men will allot "Bill" Sweeney, the Braves' former catcher, who is to coach the Maroon and White this season, plenty of opportunity to display himself. The card:

April 8, open; April 12, Medford at Medford; April 14, South Boston at B. C. High; April 15, Framingham at Framingham; April 22, Salem at Salem; April 28, Cambridge Latin at Cambridge.

May 2, Concord High at Concord; May 5, Boston Latin at Boston; May 8, English High at Boston; May 13, Dorchester at Dorchester; May 15, open; May 25, Cambridge Rindge & Latin; May 27, Lawrence Academy at Boston; May 29, open; May 30, Woburn at Woburn; June 7, Norwood at Boston; June 10, Mechanic Arts at Boston.

DAVE SHEAN FAILS TO GET PHILLY JOB

New York, Feb. 10. The report that Dave Shean, the Providence shipper, has been landed by the Phillies and is to make the training trip with the clan of Moran turns out to be decidedly premature. Shean is not only not been promised by the Phillies, but the chances are President Baker won't get him. Pat Moran had a talk with J. Lannin, the former owner of the Providence club, last night. Lannin asked too big a figure for Shean and Moran and Pat declares all negotiens are off.

Braves Buy Konetchy Coming with 2 Boxmen

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—"Big Ed" Konetchy, rated the best-hitting first baseman in baseball during the years he played under Roger Bresnahan and Miller Huggins in St. Louis, one of the stars of Fred Clarke's Pittsburgh Pirates in 1914, and who slammed the spheres to the tune of .310 during his "outlaw" engagement with the Pittsburgh Federals last season, will cover the initial sack for the Braves in the coming campaign.

Together with Pitchers Knetzer and Allen, also Pittsburgh "outlaws" in 1915, Konetchy was bought by President P. D. Haughton of the Braves last night. The purchase price was $18,000, which goes to Ed Gwinnes, who is credited with having dropped fully $100,000 in his effort to give Pittsburgh a second baseball club, and who was given a chance to buy the Cleveland club when peace negotiations were entered into between organized baseball and the Federal League, if he desired to remain in baseball.

DRAWING $8,500 S. LARY

President Haughton will assume the old Federal League contracts of the three players. Konetchy's document, which still has two years to run, is understood to call for $8,500 per season. So the "Big Train," next to Captain Johnny Evers, will be the highest salaried player. Knetzer and Allen, the two former National League hurlers, both of whom won a majority of their games in the Federal League last season, are believed to be drawing down $4,000.

Several other clubs were after Konetchy. President Garry Herrmann of the Cincinnati Reds offered $15,000 for the big first sacker, but Gwinner demanded a flat price of $16,000. This was finally met by Haughton, at Stallings' request, and something like $2,000 additional was given for Knetzer and Allen.

SCHMIDT IS THROUGH.

Where Tuesday night, Stallings and Haughton were closeted, Boston Butch Schmidt would agree to come out of retirement and return to the Braves, appearing satisfied after their talk with the Baltimore boss that he would be back at his old station when the curtain rolls up on the championship race, even if making the training trip Schmidt stated in the morning, after sleeping on the new proposition tendered him by the Braves' management, that he would probably be visiting with his father and stay in Baltimore.

Then it was that Stallings and Haughton got into touch with Gowdy. Where, most of the day, it looked as if Kopf would be the only land with the Reds or Giants, the Braves not as much as being considered in the market for any of the Cincy's services, it was announced early in the evening that the Boston club had purchased him, along with the two pitching premiers of the Pittsburgh Federals.

The National League magnates, after a brief session at the Waldorf-Astoria, adjourned until next December. President Charles H. Ebbets of the Brooklyn club, who had been out for a new draft rule. Under the new order a club can only draft players it actually can use, and the all-red club in the future will get first pick. This prevents a first division club from monopolizing every player that looks good in the minor leagues.

DRAFT RULE CHANGED.

President Herrmann, chairman of the Giants tried again to defeat the twenty-one-player rule. He pleaded for one man more, but as he only had the Chicago and Boston clubs back of him, the resolution was lost. The rule providing for the compulsory deduction of $100 from any player who is under suspension led to a lively debate. Club owners have been a bit derelict in living up to this rule. In the future, however, if a club owner violates it he will be fined $250, and if a manager is suspended by the umpire he, too, must be dropped from the payroll until he gets back into the game.

The twenty-one-player limit will not apply to the reconstructed Cubs. Charles Weeghman said he has until May 11 to dispose of his surplus players, but he cannot have more than twenty-one players on the bench after May 1. At present the Cubs' roster includes fifty-seven varieties.

Peacock Alley Pickups.

GEORGE STALLINGS believes he has about clinched the 1916 flag for the Braves by his purchase of Ed Konetchy.

THE Big Train batted .310 for the Pittsburgh Feds last season. His fielding mark was the meritorious one of .994.

KONETCHY was also famous for his long-distance hitting when with the Cardinals. An "outlaw" leader hit the ball further than Honus Kauff as evidenced by 31 doubles, 18 triples and 19 homers. He stole 29 bases in the bargain.

BOTH Knetzer and Allen hurdled the Dodgers for the Feds. Knetzer is a right hander and always could beat certain clubs, though not rated as any phenom when in O. B. before.

AS for Allen, who is a southpaw, he is generally considered as good as they come. He's undersized; that's his only drawback. But he's always had the stuff and is just as tricky and resourceful as "Dick" Rudolph.

STALLINGS intends buying "Chief" Meyers, providing McGraw does not put too big a price on the Indian receiver. Waivers have been asked on Meyers and Boston and Brooklyn are the clubs claiming him. Where Ebbets says he will go the route in landing the "Chief," Stallings states he will only offer a certain figure and will refuse to raise it.

CLUBS in the same league can play each other in the Spring, but only at their training camps or in minor league cities.

THE Baseball Writers' Association re-elected Joe Jackson, of Detroit, president and William G. Weart of Philadelphia, secretary.

CHARLEY WEEGHMAN is trying to get Pitcher Roger Bresnahan so as to avoid being sued.

CATCHER HUBY and Infielder Esmond of Newark have been bought by Cincinnati. Pitcher Al Schulz of Buffalo also goes to the Reds. Outfielder Gilmore of the Kansas City Feds was bought by St. Paul.

W. H. SQUAD DOES WELL.

Wakefield High's track team bagged its dual meet with Malden High, 55-13. Cambridge High and Latin and Stoneham High failed to show up, so the called four-cornered meet was cut to a two-handed affair. Brown, Reid, Goodwin, Dugan and Dignan were the stars for the winners.

Koney Batted .310 As Outlaw; Dope On 2 New Boxmen

BIG ED KONETCHY was always a near .300 hitter during his career with the Cardinals, though not doing very effective work with the willow when with the Pirates in 1914, the year before he hurdled to the Pittsburgh Feds.

The appended table shows how the three new Braves deported themselves as "outlaws" in 1915:

Chicago Man Is Slated to Buy Newark Club

By International News Service.

New York, Feb. 10.—H. Clay Smith of Chicago will probably own the Newark (International League) Club within the next twenty-four hours. James R. Price, formerly New York State Boxing Commissioner, is to be president of the club if the deal goes through.

There are many bidders for the Newark franchise, but it was learned today that Smith's offer had been accepted by the league and that he would be in control shortly. Smith a few years ago was a stockholder in the Newark Club. He is a personal friend of Charley Comiskey and it is expected the club will be a "farm" for the White Sox.

Frank Farrell was said to be after the Newark franchise, but the former owner of the Yankees declared that he is to get back into baseball.

With the Federal League out of existence, practical baseball men consider Newark a real diamond prize, particularly now that the International League team will play at Harrison, as the former "outlaw" park is in ideal location.

The International League held a meeting at the McAlpin and elected a new board of directors, composed of Frank A. McCaffery of Toronto, S. Lichenstein of Montreal, Alvin M. Smith of Richmond, W. H. Draper of Providence and C. F. Chapin of Rochester.

The player limit was increased from fifteen to seventeen, including the manager. President Barrow was given the power to final decision in all protests. The board will have nothing to do with them.

WESTERN SKATERS SCORE AT SARANAC

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Feb. 10.—Ben O'Sickey of Cleveland, Harry Lyon of Toronto and four other members of Chicago won the three events on the day's card in the International outdoor skating championships here today.

440 yards, senior—O'Sickey, Cleveland, first; Lyon, Toronto, second; Charles Fisher, Minneapolis, third. Time, 1:04 2-5.

One mile, senior—Lyon, first; Arthur O'Sickey, Cleveland, second; George Piersons, Paterson, N. J., third. Time, 3:03.

Two miles, senior—Staff Chicago, first; Lyon, second; Anton O'Sickey, Cleveland, third. Time—6m. 24 4-5s.

MRS. HURD TURNS IN LOW TOURNEY CARD

Pinehurst, N. C., Feb. 10.—Mrs. C. F. Lancaster of Auburndale and Mrs. Jessica Rae of Pinehurst were medalists in sets players qualifying in the St. Valentine's Day golf tournament for women here. Mrs. J. V. Hurd of Pittsburgh, who was Miss Dorothy Campbell, winner of the British championship in England and the United States, made the best medal score. She did a 95 on the No. 1 course and led by one stroke Miss Eleanor Gates of Locust Valley, L. I. None of the other players had cards below 100.

PRINCETON RELAY MAY RACE CORNELL

By International News Service.

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 10.—Cornell and Princeton may meet in the relay race for the indoor athletic meet in Baltimore Saturday night. The race was scheduled between the Ithacans, and Penny has been called off by the latter. Negotiations are proceeding to have Princeton take the Red and Blue's place.

RECRUIT SHINES AS TEAM LOSES MEET

Somerville High won the dual track meet with Mechanic Arts, 39-25. Somerville won first places with Murphy, Cook, French and Ford, and captured three places in the 300-yard run. Cook, a Somerville recruit, caused a surprise by taking first place in the 600-yard run. He looms up as a young runner of rare promise. Pinsa and Morrissey of the Buff and Blue fell in the 300-yard run, which was won by Murphy, Somerville High.

BOXING BRIEFS and GOSSIP

HECTOR MINNES, back in Boston, states he saw Mike McNulty, manager of Johnny Ertle, the rollocking St. Paul bantamweight, in New York last week, when winning over the Zulu Kid, and Freddie Kibler with Jack McDonald, his candidate for the championship crown in the 158-pound class, and that it looks as if the little Minnesota boy will take place in New Bedford instead of Boston.

"MINETTY told me the New Bedford offer excelled the Boston bid and he looks for that city to get the match," states McInnes.

ERTLE gave his stock a substantial boost last night in Brooklyn when he flipped Terry Martin about the worst beating the Providence boy was ever dealt. Not only is Ertle a comparative newcomer at class, but he's a batsam, who doesn't have the slightest fear of trouble making the real limit of his division. As for Minetty, one cocking good little fighting machine, there's a lot of shrewd judges, who believe 118 pounds is about as light as he can go.

AL LIPPE writes the AMERICAN from New York, stating he is having a Ned of a time inducing any boxer to step into the ring with the middleweight member of his string, Jeff Smith, the Bayonne, N. J., battler.

LIPPE admits Smith messed things up badly when on with George Chip at the Hippodrome some two months ago. "He wasn't himself that night, that's all there is to it," states Lippe in his communication. "Smith put it all over Chip when they met before. But I admit he was a 'fiver' in Boston, New York City, anyhow. I simply cannot start a winner there."

LIPPE had Smith matched with Gus Christie in Milwaukee for tomorrow night, but the Westerner ran out. Johnny Howard has also sidestepped his date with Smith. The Bayonne boy is down to go against Jack McCarron in Philadelphia, Saturday night, and the lanky Al claims he is pulling hard for this match to come off.

IF looks as if New York is going to send Al Reich against Fred Fulton. That's a match Boston doesn't want.

COMES to at Eddie Moore of Pawtucket, manager of Freddie Yelle. Writes Bro. Moore: "I was very much amused to read Eddie Mack's dream of the Jersey Bridge ability Mack has why Yelle, the New England champion, does not meet Brooks instead of offering Frank Mack and Gilbert Gallant the chance?

"IN answering will say I cannot think of any match at present with Freddie, while Yelle met Brooks at Webster a few months ago, and as for Gallant, he let him three-thirds of the fans left the hall before the bout was over.

"JOHNNY LUSTIG made Brooks look like a raw amateur at St. Atlas, while Yelle made Lustig resemble a plaything in their recent meeting. Brooks could do more to hold Tommy Moore even and lose a newspaper decision to Tommy Malone, Yelle knocked Moore out in five rounds and Malone in three."

THIS passes the buck along to Eddie Mack of Boston.

HARRY VILLA writes the AMERICAN from Worcester stating that he wants to book Jim Villa with any of the G. I. 116-129-pounders. His can be reached at No. 18 Hill street.

EX-BRAVE HURLER SIGNS WITH D. SHAY

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 10.—Pitcher Gene Corcoran, formerly of the Braves, has been signed by the Kansas City (American Association) club.

RITCHIE DATE IS NAMED

Glover Boxes ex-Lightweight King in Milwaukee March 20—McInnes Sweet on McDonald

THERE may be a delay of a day or two in the D. O. P. learning the cognomens of the starters in next week's main melee at the Armory A. A. That's because the firm of Murray, Lewis & Company, satisfied that all is well again with their institution, following the hurrah Leonard-Ritchie bout, plans being dogone careful in booking all feature combats.

Boxing fans, be it known, pay grand opera prices for peeks at their pet sport. Incidentally, the Greater Boston set cannot be hoodwinked. It knows who should be put on, and any time our impression try to slip a hogus encounter past them, they do exactly what stings—stay away.

Ivy Lewis is not after the return meeting between White and Walls. He is also seeking a classy opponent for Benny Leonard. Likewise does he want to put on the postponed Glover-Britton clash.

GLOVER TO BOX RITCHIE.

However, this number will probably go over until Spring, as Milwaukee has named March 20 as the date of the Glover-Ritchie battle, and Manager Freeman does not intend permitting Mike, who has been on the sick list for the past fortnight, to do any active work until it comes time for him to lineup with the former lightweight champion.

Should Glover win from Ritchie in Milwaukee next month the South Boston boy will be made. He's really made right now, as he gave Ted (Kid) Lewis a decisive whipping in his last big start and followed this up by making "Soldier" Bartfield look foolish.

Last night, at Buffalo, Bartfield is reported to have tied the Londoner in their ten-round fuss, in fact, one report from the northern New York city has Bartfield running up quite a shade on Lewis. Ted was knocked down twice and roughed up quite a bit.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—There was much pro and con around here for long ago over the question of decisions by referees in boxing bouts. It all is State.

Many State followers favored permitting decisions. Many still favor permitting them. Just as many were, and are, opposed to decisions Both sides have their arguments.

The Boxing Commission, as we understand the matter, is vested with discretionary powers in ten premises, and there was talk for a time that it would not choose to exercise one power, but it finds it has a way of experience.

TODAY'S AID TO BEAUTY

An especially fine shampoo for this weather can be easily made at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water. Pour slowly on scalp and massage briskly. This creates a soothing, cooling lather that dissolves and removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt. Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean and the hair so fluffy that it seems very much heavier than it is. After a canthrox shampoo arranging the hair is a pleasure.—Advertisement

"The Mode!"

(CHIN-CHIN COLLARS)

By NELL BRINKLEY

EARLY in the season, a red-wing loitered on a bare bough above me and chortled "O-ka-lee!" So I looked. It was the coming in collar in all its smothering smartness. A pretty dark-eyed little creature were all the world could see; girl came shouldering daintily along with, what seemed to the electrified red-wing and me, a heavy dog wrapped round her throat. Closer it peered, like a bad, fat little round head. "This is the Mode"—pondered the red-wing and I. And the red-wing's mate puffed up her feathers about her ears and eyes, and with a twinkle in those same black jewels sang "O-ka-lee!" Look at me!" Chin-chin collars and fur knobs on a little round tub of a chapeau and brief petticoatrits!

On another wintered bough a little brown snow-bird called aloud, "Chee-chee-chee!" ending with a startled "Ba— Gee-e-e-e!" Beside the smart young person who swung along by the merest chance there skipped a small scrap of humanity with tight little braids and cheeks like wine saps! And Fashion sat upon her with the details all correct. Chin-chin collar smothering her to the lips and ears. Over it she peered haughtily. It was faded wool—a scarf called once a "fascinator"—and it wrapped her about as costly as ever the blue fox did the other. Over her head the little tub cap with its required fur-knot—but this was a worn little pom-pom which looked as if it had been chewed in times of embarrassment. Over her nose hung a curl—accidentally a replica! And her skirts were short—ultra!

Fashion walked abroad that day. And the red-wing and the little brown mongrel bird and I all laughed "ho-ho" together.

Nation's Greatest Men of Affairs Have a Code Much Higher Than Years Ago—Forbes Finds More Honesty Than Ever Among Big Business Leaders

BIG SHORTAGE OF POTATOES IS DENIED

Housewives and providers need have no fear that the potato will become an even greater luxury than it is at present if they face the situation in a proper manner.

Whereas today consumers are called on to pay from 40 to 45 cents a peck some dealers have stated that before June it will be necessary to expend from 55 to 60 cents to secure a peck of potatoes.

According to a story circulated chain stores were charging 45 cents a peck for a poor class of potatoes in comparison with 20 cents a peck, the price which prevailed a year ago.

This statement is denied by the president of one of the leading New England chain stores. A spokesman for his concern, or in fact any of the chain stores, are not asking 45 cents a peck and, furthermore, he declares that the potatoes his stores handle are the best to be secured in the market.

"This story," said President Charles F. Adams of the John T. Connor Company, today, "looks like a deliberate effort to boost the price of a necessity. According to the article, a prominent dealer is quoted as saying that the chain stores are asking 45 cents a peck for poor quality potatoes.

DENIES ANY SHORTAGE.

"In our stores yesterday the best quality of potatoes were selling for 40 cents a peck and we had no intention to sell at that price just as long as we are able to hold them there. What I say regarding our stores is the case in true regarding the stock and prices of all better class chain stores.

"There is no great shortage of potatoes. About six weeks ago the cost price of potatoes in the fall producing sheds advanced rapidly and dealers rushed to purchase.

"These sheds had been buying in 150-bushel lots began buying 300-bushel lots. Those with 300-bushel demand bought ten carloads and so on, went everyone buying more than he financially

PREDICTS LOWER PRICES.

"The John T. Connor Company formerly bought at the rate of fourteen carloads a week. At present we are buying about 20 per week. Also as much as persons are not buying as great quantities of potatoes with the prices high. However, this does not mean that the prices will continue to increase.

"Unless the present market is artificially maintained the price of potatoes will go lower rather than higher. This has stood out in the past and is a way, made up for a shortage that could exist in the commodity as a result of the war.

"This year the Canadian farmers cannot ship their potatoes into the United States or to Cuba. Their government has demanded that their potatoes be used at home or in England and the allied countries.

SMALLER FIELDS PLANTED.

"That was one contributing cause to the shortage. Another was the fact that a year ago potatoes sold as low as 20 cents a bushel. Farmers became disgusted over the price they received and planted smaller fields. As a result potatoes are selling at four times as much today as a year ago."

BROCKTON SHOE MEN AND TREERS AGREE

Brockton, Feb. 16—The Brockton Shoe Manufacturers' Association yesterday voted their wage differences the agreement with the Shoe Treers' Union was signed. The treers' wage was $2 a week; the $2.75 a day, and a flat $2 wage was demanded. Several conferences were held, and T. F. McGowan, representing for the Treers' Union, signed an agreement calling for a $2.50 daily wage. The agreement has only one year to run.

$50,000,000 Bill for U. S. Merchant Marine Explained by McAdoo

Washington, Feb. 16.—The administration today was called upon for an explanation of its proposed ship purchase bill. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Secretary of Commerce Redfield were subjected to the House Merchant Marine Committee to make clear the necessity for the $50,000,000 worth of merchant vessels which the administration measure proposes to buy or build for operation by the government.

The administration bill was prepared by the officials of the Treasury and Commerce departments and was submitted to President Wilson by Secretary McAdoo and Secretary Redfield after the latter had submitted the details to the cabinet on several occasions. Shipping conditions growing out of the European war were discussed at length, it is believed that immediate steps be taken to purchase many of the ships.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks were strong in New York at the opening, but gains were mostly fractional. Coppers were the most active group, and Utah Copper sold at $24, its highest record price, soon after the start. Among large initial gains were Tennessee Copper ¼, American Beet Sugar ¼ and Cuban Cane ¾. Sunday earnings preferred certificates soon showed an advance of 1¼. Butte and Superior advanced 1¼, but receded until only a small fraction of the gain was left. The market was active at the beginning. Covering of shorts and sentiment was plainly better. Doubts as to a satisfactory settlement of the Canadian difficulty between Germany and the United States have disappeared. Railroad men interested in business in them did not total much. It is regarded as certain that there will be next session no rate, banking interests would be far more inclined to lend support to the market. As local it is claimed, as the bulk of speculation is in industrials, large financial interests will hold aloof. Shares of corporations of that kind are not satisfactorily available as collateral.

PRICE TREND UPWARD.

The rise at the opening was not temporary. The market remained strong during the first half hour, a period in which prices of the active stocks were in limited supply. More interest on the part of the public was reported by commission houses. It is believed that an army of outsiders has been waiting for a signal that when it is given it is apparent that prices had touched bottom.

Gains of 1 to 10½ points: American Can 3¾, Chino ½, Utah Copper ¾, Interboro 3¾, Tennessee Copper ¼, Car & Foundry 1, American Locomotive ¾, Baldwin ¼, Colorado Fuel ¾, Crucible 4, Distillers ½, Goodrich ¾, Lackawanna Steel ¾, Republic Steel ¾, Westinghouse ¾, National Enameling 1, American Smelting ¼, Marine preferred certificates ¾, Atchison ¾, Baltimore & Ohio ¼, Canadian Pacific ¾, Chesapeake & Ohio ¼, Haven ¾, Pennsylvania ¾, Reading ¼, Southern Pacific ¾, Union Pacific 1, Southern Railway ¼, Erie 1st pref. ¾. The market for these issues had eased off from their highest.

Among declines were American Smelting ¼, Anaconda ¼, Maxwell ¼, Central Leather ¼, Republic Steel ¼, Sloss-Sheffield ½, Industrial Alcohol 1 and Studebaker ¼. The material recessions in profit taking in a manner encouraging to the bull element.

"There was" 30 days a New York dispatch, "a violent advance in Mackay common. This after it rose a point at a time and touched 91, against 86 at the opening and 84½ at the close yesterday."

TRADING CONFINED TO COPPERS.

Trading in Boston was confined to copper shares almost wholly and they were strong as well as active. Some increased substantially, but the rest gain was small. Among the strongest were Alloucz, Osceola, Quincy and Tamarack. Business here was on a large scale and indicated more outside interest in coppers than has been shown for a long time. Calumet & Old Dominion and Quincy sold at their highest prices for years.

Gains at 10:10 included Alloucz 1, Butte & Superior ½, Calumet & Arizona ¾, Granby ½, Isle Royale ¼, North Butte ¾, Osceola 2, Quincy ¾, Shannon ½, Old Dominion ¼, St. Mary's ¼, Tamarack 1, United Shoe preferred ¼, United States Smelting preferred ¼ and United Fruit ¾ and Boston & Maine ½.

INVESTORS PREFER BONDS.

The bond market was quieter than the stock market. Investors' preference for bonds over standard stocks.

Although there was a craze for speculation last year, incited by the sorting of Bethlehem Steel and other issues, the fact was that most of the money did not try to get rich quick.

They bought bonds if they could afford them, since security has been stressed since October last in this connection. They are called "baby bonds." The movement began in November, and has increased every month since.

The chief difficulty at this time, it is declared by one who has investigated the matter, is that there are not enough sound, safe, conservative railroad bonds, owing to the reluctance of buyers for large railroads and industrials to offer their bonds being offerings into $100 denominations.

ATTITUDE OF BANKERS.

Bankers of the "old school" do not take kindly to baby bonds. Some of them say that investing in bonds was the sole prerogative of the rich, and that savings banks are the only place for the small investor to go, contrary to the plans of economy.

But financial directors are getting to the point of view where they can see the advantage of having railway bonds held by as many people as are railway shares. It creates public sentiment in favor of roads and during the last decade there has been a need of it.

Savings banks are treated very gingerly by legislators, because it is assumed they are institutions for the poor. Hence railroads are particularly classed there will be more legislation, perhaps, in passing laws which affect railroads.

PEOPLE CLING TO BONDS.

People who invest in bonds cling to them as regards those of $100 denomination, and they rarely ever return to the market. One authority says that only 5 per cent of the total of such securities are resold by the purchasers.

Bankers were to encourage the issue of low-priced bonds. It would be found that there is already market for a great quantity of them. Savings bank in the South has created what is known as the "baby bond" habit, to buy baby bonds, and, it is said, others in that region are expected to do the same.

While much is said about the steady accumulation of bonds by the few, little attention is given the extent to which it is being amassed by the many. Savings deposits are invariably in excess of the millions which industrials are annually adding to great fortunes.

In Massachusetts during the year savings deposits increased $29,551,959 to a total of $928,520,655. It will not be long before Massachusetts savings pass the billion mark.

FINANCIAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

Earnings on its preferred stock by the Chicago, Gulf & West Indies Company last year are estimated at 17.1 a share, and directors will soon consider initiating a dividend on that issue. Preferred stock amounts to $14,296,900.

Erie reports to the Interstate Commerce Commission that in December gross increased $1,228,081 and net $1,977,309. The gains for six months are $7,378,199 more than $4,278,910 in gross and $6,944,292 in net.

Two Brockton concerns, the F. P. Field Shoe Company and the Eaton Company, have a foreign contract for factory shoes, which is expected to sell for about 500,000 pairs and total around $1,600,000. The order is understood to be for the British government. These companies got an order for 600,000 pairs from the same source in December.

Northern Pacific's gross for January totalled $1,933,000, an increase of $367,000.

HIGH FINANCE IS BENEFITED BY PUBLICITY

By B. C. FORBES.

New York, Feb. 16.—"Are big business men more honest than they used to be? If so, why did they become more honest?"

After making an address to an audience of keen, ambitious, hustling young business men the other evening, I agreed to try to answer any questions they cared to ask. I was favored with many queries, both about business and newspaper ethics.

Chief interest, however, appeared to centre in the tendency discernible in high finance and big business today, as compared with formerly.

I declared unhesitatingly that the nation's greatest men of affairs now have a code much higher than years ago.

As to why this is so, the answer, I thought, was two-pronged, to give in one phrase or one sentence.

Briefly:

First—The morals of mankind are gradually advancing.

Second—The publicity investigations which began in this country ten years ago have proved so disastrous to many financial and business reputations that they have served as a warning, and have operated as a powerful and disinfectant. When sets and facts are certain to be revealed, the acts and the methods of many have been greatly modified, so that questionable practices have become more discreet.

Fifth—The younger generation of financiers and inflationists, mostly men of humble origin, have had a larger measure of esteem regard and respect for the public.

Sixth—The experiences of the last ten years have demonstrated beyond cavil that "honesty is the best policy," the only permanent, safe, workable policy.

Seventh—HOW a man has made his fortune is now a more insistent query than how MUCH he has made. The mere possession of wealth is no longer considered sufficient to bring forth fit or even unusual respect.

Eighth—Advertising has conquered its prejudices and all-round fair dealing in business.

* * *

It would thus seem that the reform movement has been the not solely to the good of the many, but to the advanced conscience, in part to expediency, in large part to enlightened self-interest. Corporations rip the lid off almost any variety of financial, railroad and industrial deal, if they so request, and lo, the revelations viewed in the clearest light of day look unobjectionable.

But the sense is true of old-time political activities.

Indeed, we have had recent demonstrations that politicians zealously engaged in investigating big business during public and semi-public funds were guilty of the very offense they were investigating.

* * *

One great truth often encountered is that things which were customary and not condemned a decade ago are now considered wrong. What is condemned today, thanks to the progress we have made, in the future will be held up to the searchlight here now and years ago the standards of today.

Rebates were accounted all right years ago. They are punished by law today.

Who would have accounted to accept a railroad pass? Today railroad passes are rare. Railroad passes are now taboo.

Political parties generally sought campaign contributions from corporations not so very long ago. This, too, is no longer adjudged ethical.

* * *

To my mind it is peculiarly significant that the leading financiers, operators and the railroads of the whole country should voluntarily lay their cases before the public, when compelled thereto by the force of events, and from the important demands of law?

The inference is that both classes of moneyers now feel they have established a higher standard of morality of affairs from old days.

* * *

Candidly I told my hearers that all financiers were not angels, that many things the law does not, but

Altruism is not the keynote of business in the financial world, or of business anywhere else.

But, of my own experience, meeting more than a thousand of the leading men in the land and the nearest universally that there is more sentiment than there used to be before.

Everyone Should Attend the Lincoln Meeting Tomorrow Night

ON Friday evening, at the Old South Meeting House, a Lincoln celebration will be held in honor of the "New Americans."

This is part of the general movement to promote the more rapid Americanization of our immigrants. This whole movement is part of the general stirrings of the American intelligence and conscience. We are coming more and more to realize that the old laissez-faire doctrine of the economists, so long a fetish among our academicians, is little more than a euphemism of the still older phrase, "Every man for himself, the devil take the hindmost."

The other philosophy, which commands us to co-operate, using the power of organization even to its greatest unit, the State, to help the individual, has proved so wonderfully successful in the upbuilding of Germany, not only as a people of power, but as a people earning a greater dividend of happiness than any other competitive people in Europe, that we now recognize the truth of this new doctrine.

Some call it Socialism, but it is not Socialism. It is just common sense. It is recognizing the truth of our own great motto, "In union there is strength." The workingmen's compensation act, mothers' insurance, old age insurance, minimum wage, extension of public health measures, and the building of the Panama Canal and of the government railroad in Alaska, are all examples of this great new movement for the general welfare.

Let us all, who can, attend this celebration at the Old South Meeting House in honor of Lincoln and for the benefit of the "New Americans." Lincoln was the most inspiring of those Americans who have lived in our time and whom living Americans ever knew.

The State Supreme Court Holds Just View of Its Own Powers

THE Supreme Court of Massachusetts has decided that the Workmen's Compensation Act provides compensation for persons whose already existing illness or weakness has been aggravated by an incident of their employment. This is an important interpretation of the act, plainly justified by its language.

But the point which the AMERICAN wishes to make concerning this decision is the fact that the Supreme Court meets the argument that "great economic consequences of far-reaching effect may follow from the act as thus construed" with this very proper reply:

"These considerations are of great public moment. But these factors relate to legislative questions, and the arguments founded on them are distinctly legislative arguments. They may be entitled to attention and deliberation at the hands of the legislative department of government. In the present form they cannot have decisive significance, even if it were plain that the enumerated consequences were inevitable. The function of the judicial department of the government is simply to determine whether an act is within the power vested by the constitution in the Legislature, and then to enforce it according to its true meaning in cases as they arise."

If our courts would always take this attitude and would thus avoid the wrong of judicial legislation our American courts would be held in more respect than many of them are held today.

The Mayor Presents a Sensible Program

MAYOR CURLEY summarizes the present needs of Boston as follows:

The establishment of a municipal maternity hospital.

Hospital treatment for confirmed drunkards.

Reconstruction of the Boston firehouses and the installation of additional fire apparatus.

New buildings at Deer Island to provide for further segregation of certain types of prisoners.

The application of money rather than theory in the matter of street construction.

Appropriation of money to study purification for commercial use of the city sewage.

The issuance of bonds for development of the South Boston Strandway.

This seems to be a sensible program, worthy of consideration and support by the City Council. Doubtless Mayor Curley will find that with such a program he will meet support in many quarters which have hitherto disapproved of him.

Two Women

By William F. Kirk

ONE was frail and poorly clad
In the very best she had.
At her side a little boy
Fidgeted with urchin joy.
"Mother, will the pictures be
All about the war?" said he.
"Will they shoot a great big gun
At the soldiers when they run?
That's the kind I like to see.
Ain't I glad you're taking me?"
And the faded mother smiled
At her eager little child.

One was plump and fair to see,
With a poodle on her knee;
One of those small, fluffy mites
That a real dog always bites.
Then the owner, bending near,
Whispered in the hairy ear:
"Is my duckums going to go
To the booful picture show?
Is oo doin' to see a cat
Try to catch a naughty rat?"
And the brilliant little dog
Kept on sleeping like a log

From that car I went, still blind
To the ways of womankind.

Industrial Hygiene

By Woods Hutchinson, M. D.

The World's Best Known Writer on Medical Subjects.

PART TWO

THIRTY years ago the average length of life in Western Europe and America was about thirty-three years; now it is fifty-one plus.

The average annual death rate a generation ago was twenty-one per thousand living; now it is about fourteen. The death rate from tuberculosis, that finest and grimmest social register of general health conditions, has gone down nearly fifty per cent, and the average wealth of the community per capita has increased from less than $300 up to $1,500.

In other words, we live almost twice as long, die more than a third less frequently, are sick only two-fifths as often and less than half as much of the time, and have three times as much money to spend for good food, good housing and healthful recreation.

That is to say, we would have if all got their fair share, which they don't. To secure this equitable division of our huge national wealth is the most vital and important health problem of the future—yes, of today.

To complete the parallel, those countries which are most highly industrialized and civilized today—the United States, England, Sweden—have the highest longevity and the lowest death rate, fifty-three years and fourteen per 1,000 respectively; while those least fully industrialized—Austria-Hungary, Russia, Turkey—have the lowest and highest, thirty-five and twenty-five, respectively.

For further consolation those countries which have scarcely been industrialized at all in the modern sense—India and China—still have an average length of life of about twenty-two years, in spite of their blameless and repulsively virtuous habits, according to one school of health reformers, in abstaining from meat, alcohol, hot biscuit, canned goods and the pleasures of life generally.

Of course all these improvements cannot be claimed as products of modern industrialism, but they are of the joint product of modern inventions and scientific medicines and an awakened public conscience, which are all the children of modern science.

Letters from American Readers

MILK FOR ENGLISH BABIES

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—An earnest appeal comes from England for help to supply milk to starving babies.

When the war broke out, sending prices up and causing acute distress, a group of suffragists opened in the poorest part of London a relief centre for mothers and babies. They are running four baby clinics, and two cost-price restaurants, where good meals are supplied at four cents apiece to children and to expectant and nursing mothers. They have also taken on old public house, renamed it "The Mother's Arms," and from it they are distributing hundreds of quarts of milk daily to destitute mothers and babies.

Dr. Barbara Tchaykovsky, whose father, Dr. Nicholas Tchaykovsky, is known and highly respected in America, writes that this good work is desperately in need of help. The poverty in that part of London is appalling. When a child is born, there is often neither food nor fire in the house, and the gift of a quart of milk a day means literally the difference between life and death.

Contributions for the "Babies' Milk Fund" may be sent to Barbara Tchaykovsky, M.D., Longham House, Harrow, England, or to me. Second-hand clothing for mothers and babies should be sent direct to The Mother's Arms, 134 Old Ford road, Bow, London, E., England.

Battlefields Have No Monopoly on World's Brave Men—Practical Optimist Forging Ahead of Pessimist and Theorist in Every Trade and Profession

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Copyright, 1916, Star Company.

WE hear a great deal about the heroism of soldiers in these days, and there are hundreds of men who are wearing medals, crosses and other emblems of distinction which have been bestowed upon them for their bravery.

A halo of glory surrounds the name of thousands of dead heroes, but right here in our own land of peace we have heroes. In early November, the Santa Clara, a steamer, was stranded on the Oregon shore. Robert Shearer, a winch driver aboard, left the ship in a lifeboat loaded with women and children.

According to an eye-witness, all those who were able to swim had reached shore, when Shearer, with a child in each arm, finally crawled out on the beach from the swirling waters. With both hands engaged he had waged a deadly battle, but had refused to release either one of the children to assure his reaching shore.

Blood was streaming down his face from where a piece of wreckage had hit him. He placed the children on shore and gasped, "There's a woman out there. I am going back to get her." He never returned.

Jersey Hero Saves Two Boys at Cost of Own Life

Surely this man is as great a hero as any one who dies in battle.

Only a few days ago Ira J. Stringham, twenty-one, of No. 250 Pacific avenue, Jersey City, gave up his own life in rescuing two boys from drowning in the Morris Canal. While returning home this young man, in the morning of life, heard cries under the Pacific avenue bridge. Two boys of eight had fallen through the ice.

Stringham threw off his coat, shirt, hat and shoes, and leaped from the bridge. Conscious that he was in danger of losing his life, he hurled a wallet containing his identification card ashore. Then he stepped out on the ice. An instant later the ice gave way and he found himself in the freezing water with the two boys. He grasped a sinking boy in each arm and began to make his way slowly toward shore.

Two employes of the Public Service Corporation hurled him a rope. Both boys were slowly drawn to safety by means of this rope. It was cast again to Stringham, but before he could grasp it he sank back and disappeared. His body was recovered later.

On the lapel of his coat was found the badge of the Christian Endeavor Society.

Surely the State of Oregon and the State of New Jersey owe it to the memory of both these men to honor their names in some way. They gave their lives to save others; what more can human beings do for humanity than this? There was no blare of trumpets, no drum and fife, no marching battalions, no rush of cavalry, to stimulate the courage and incite the heroic action of these men.

They were not stirred to do some great deed in order to elevate the conduct of their comrades. Their unselfish impulse was spontaneous and resulted from innate nobility of character and sympathy for their kind. Let the States of Oregon and New Jersey honor the names of Robert Shearer and Ira J. Stringham.

Optimism the Demand in Every Business and Profession Now

A MAN of genius in his own line, but of the most impractical qualities, and a confirmed pessimist, complains that the world is unkind, selfish and ungrateful because he has never attained success. Genius is only a small element in success. Industry is only another.

Without well directed and practical effort, genius and industry will make small headway in this very matter-of-fact world.

We must suit ourselves to the times we are in, with just enough of the progressive spirit to bring a following of interested thought, if we would have the attention of the world.

Humanity today is not willing to remain in the rear line of the march of progress to listen to any man's ideas, no matter how wonderful they may be, and it gives but passing heed to the theorist who plunges a hundred years ahead.

Neither has the world patience with the pessimist.

The clergyman who talks hell fire must eventually address empty pews, no matter how eloquent he may be. The doctor who carries a gloomy face and distrust of the whole human race in his atmosphere, though he be the most skilled of the disciples of Aesculapius, will never be a successful practitioner.

Optimism is the demand of every mind today. Each man has his own private supply of pessimism and distrust, and he does not want his neighbors to bring theirs to his market. He wants their cheer and sunshine. "Romeo and Juliet," though abounding in beautiful lines and tragic situations, no longer fills our theatres. We all prefer the merry play which leaves us smiling as the curtain falls.

The book with the unhappy ending does not make the success of the year, however artistic it may be. And however great the genius of a man, if he is forever calling his fellow men selfish, ungrateful and deceitful, he will never attain success—for no matter in what direction his efforts are put forth, success depends upon the interest of his kind.

Whoever is declaring the world selfish, cruel and unjust is creating those very conditions about him. I heard a brilliant man, whose talents have not been recognized as they might be, say:

"I never believe in any one till I am forced to—I have been deceived so many times."

Persistent Faith and Hope Bound to Bring Success to Man

He did not realize that his thoughts were the cause of his failures. No matter how many times we are misled and deceived by the promises of unworthy people, we should say to ourselves:

"I am true, loyal, honest and grateful, and there must be others like me in the world. It is impossible that I alone am worthy. I shall find my own kind by and by —I have missed the right road for a while, but I shall get back again and meet those for whom I seek."

What enormous egotism for any man to assert that all the world save himself is unworthy!

There is not the slightest question today in the minds of the really intelligent that thought is a vital force—as powerful as electricity, though slower in its results.

The kind of thought we send out constantly creates our future here on earth (and for centuries to come here and in other planets).

Persistent distrust and doubt will bring failure and poverty as certainly as rain brings wet.

Persistent faith and hope will bring successful conditions as surely as the sun brings light—with only the same amount of labor and industry which accompanied the failure of the pessimist.

Believe in yourself; believe in humanity; believe in the success of your undertakings. Fear nothing and no one. Love your work. Work, hope, trust. Keep in touch with today. Teach yourself to be practical and up-to-date and sensible. You cannot fail.
